COMMITTEE FAVORS JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL AND CONSOLIDATION OF TWO DISTRICTS

WHITE BACK FROM N.E.A. MEETING

School Superintendent Gives Report of Conference Held at Chicago

Returned from the annual conference of the department of superintendence, National Education association, held this year in Chicago, February 23 to 28, Superintendent Richardson D. White of the Glendale city schools, brings back the very latest thoughts along educational lines, from all parts of the country, there being 12,000 delegates to the conference, representing every state in the Union.

Mr. White left Glendale February 20 and arrived home yesterday. He states that the conference was characterized by a progressive spirit and had for its theme "The Next Forward Step in Education."

Prominent Educators

Headquarters of the conference were established in the Congress hotel but meetings were held as well in the Auditorium, Blackstone, LaSalle and other hotels. Among the great assemblage of educators were superintendents, college professors and executives along many different lines.

Outstanding among the proposals offered, Mr. White states, were:

1—The "platoon school organization" method, sometimes called the "work, study, play" plan, with which best results have been obtained in Detroit.

2—The "individual instruction" method, as exemplified at Winnetka, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, which strives to develop to the maximum the capabilities of each child along its own particular line.

3—The "socialized instruction through project" method, successful in Chicago, which attempts to educate the child along general lines through the requirements of some special line.

Practical Meeting

"What impressed me most about the conference was that it was in large measure a study of curriculum content and methods of teaching," says Mr. White. "In short, it was a very practical gathering, an assemblage of educators determined to get to the point and discuss plainly the most vexing problems of modern education.

"Naturally, there was much in the conference that was unsettled. Education, similarly to any other real science, is at present in more or less of a fluid state, as changes are occurring with great rapidity and many experiments are being made.

"I am not prepared to say that I would care to put into effect in the Glendale public school system, at the present time, any of the three methods stressed by the conference.

Valuable Information

"All have their good and their bad qualities. Some are better adapted to large than to small

Accidents Claim Three Lives In Chicago Blizzard

CHICAGO, March 7.—The blinding snowstorm, which throughout the night and early today swirled about Chicago, hampering traffic and driving thermometers down more than 20 degrees, claimed three lives today.

P. J. Brosnan, veteran engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad, and J. F. McFadden, yard brakeman, were almost instantly killed when blinded by the driving snow, they stepped from a switch engine directly in the path of an east-bound freight train.

Another victim of the storm died later in the day in a local hospital where he was brought after he had stepped in the path of a switch engine, hidden from sight by the heavy snow.

REVELATIONS OF SECRET MESSAGES

'Apples' Meant Secretary Fall Says Witness, Telling Of Code Wires

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Plunging ahead in their efforts to solve their secrets contained in the many code messages that passed in and out of Washingon between the prominent figures in the oil scandal, the Senate public lands committee today discovered that "apples" meant ex-Secretary of the Interior Fall, that "wyfge" meant Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, and that "the principal" referred to Senator Curtis, Republican, of Kansas.

These secrets were learned from Ira E. Bennett, chief editorial writer on the Washington Post, which is E. B. McLean's paper. Bennett was author of many of these messages.

Causes Big Surprise

The revelation concerning the identity of "the principal" created a distinct surprise, as Senator Heflin, Democrat, of Alabama had charged on the floor of the senate that "the principal" was President Coolidge himself.

Bennett carefully explained that the "rocking the boat" expression was his own and did not apply to "the principal."

"That's quite a well known message," said Bennett. "The second part had nothing to do with the first part. The 'rocking the boat' part and the 'no resignations' part had nothing to do with 'principal.'

"It was my opinion, gathered as a correspondent around the White House," said Bennett, "It has no connection with Senator Curtis."

URGE WIDER TRAFFIC ROUTES

Fourth Street Endorsed as Best Burbank-Pasadena Thoroughfare

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

The proposed boulevard connecting Burbank and Pasadena, by way of Fourth street, will be one of the city's busiest thoroughfares and will serve as a feeder for Brand boulevard, Thomas W. Watson, former city manager, now chairman of the city planning committee of the Chamber of Commerce, told members of the Fourth Street Improvement Association at a meeting held last night at Grand View school.

Plans outlined by the city planning committee, Mr. Watson said, call for cross-town streets or boulevards wide enough to handle large amounts of traffic.

Prepare for Future

Brand boulevard will always be the principal street north and south, he declared, but, in time to come, will not be able to handle all the traffic. Central avenue will be widened, so more traffic can be carried, he said.

Streets on which the bulk of the traffic must be carried, he claimed, must be free from jogs, crooks and bends. Some of the streets marked for through thoroughfares will have to be straightened, he said, but, once straightened, the future growth of the city will be cared for.

Favor Flood Control

The association went on record as favoring flood control, and members of the association passed a resolution directing the secretary to invite the members of the Glendale Advancement association to attend the meeting April 3, and a representative of the Los Angeles county flood control commission will be asked to talk.

"Glendale has two menaces," said O. M. Newby, chairman of the rights-of-way committee. "They are fire and flood. We want the members of the Advancement association to know that we feel their problems are our problems, and we want to work with them for the good of Glendale."

Mr. Newby urged the members not to relax in their demands for flood control and asked that the association send representatives to the City Council demanding better fire and flood protection.

Improve Crossing

Mr. Newby also asked that a demand be made upon the City Council to have the crossings at Grand View and Pacific avenues widened, and thus lessen the dangers facing pedestrians and motorists. These crossings, he said, are death traps, and he called attention to the recent fatal accident at the Grand View crossing.

Another suggestion advanced by Mr. Newby was that steps be taken to secure an intermediate school for the northwestern part of the city. It is necessary for children from that part of Glendale to traverse the city to reach

Officials Launch Probe of Poison Death at Banquet

COALINGA, Cal., March 7.—With one man dead, a woman expected to die and five others seriously ill, an investigation was launched today to determine the exact cause of the poisoning cases which followed a dinner at the Growlers' club here in connection with a whist party.

O. D. Canady, 33, manager of the local branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings bank, died last night after four days' illness. Mrs. Robert S. McCormick, wife of a Fresno insurance agent, is so ill her life is despaired of.

F. J. McCollum, editor of the Coalinga Record; Burton Boyle, manager of a lumber company; Arthur Stevenson and his wife, and Mrs. Jacob Zwang are the others ill.

Botulinus in canned food served at the meals is believed to have caused the death of Canady, and the illness of the others.

NEWS PRESS ARRIVES IN GLENDALE

Equipment Is Increased by Most Modern Machinery On Pacific Coast

The work of unloading and erecting the new 24-page tubular press recently purchased by The Glendale Evening News from the Duplex Printing Press company of Battle Creek, Michigan, started this morning at 8 o'clock.

L. S. Maddock, of St. Petersburg, Florida, factory representative, is in charge of the work, and states that it will require at least two weeks to get the press in running order. The two freight cars containing the machinery were rushed through from Battle Creek, Michigan, in sixteen days. They arrived at the Southern Pacific depot in Glendale last night.

Mr. Maddock, who has spent the winter on the Pacific coast installing six presses for the Duplex company, states that The Glendale Evening News has the largest tubular press on the coast south of British Columbia, and it will give this paper equipment as modern as that of any publication in the west in a city of corresponding size.

$40,000 Investment

The press, which is 28 feet long and 10 feet 6 inches high, has a capacity of 30,000 twenty-four page papers per hour, in one or two colors. When completely installed it will represent an investment of approximately $40,000.

"I have been traveling over the United States for fifteen years as a representative of the Duplex company," said Mr. Maddock this morning, "and, although I have only been in Glendale a few days, I am impressed by the go-ahead spirit displayed, especially that of The Glendale Evening News. When the present alterations are completed and the new equipment in place, you will have a plant as modern as any in the country. It is unusual to find in a city the size of Glendale a newspaper establishment installing such modern equipment."

Mr. Maddock, whose home town of St. Petersburg, Florida, corresponds in latitude to that of the resorts in Southern California, stated that it was pleasing to find weather like this in March. He has been in Los Angeles some time on business for the company so is familiar with California's winter climate.

CAPITALISTS PLAN NEW BUILDING

Site at San Fernando and Los Feliz Chosen for Stores, Apartments

San Fernando road, which has been making great progress during the past few months, is to have another modern apartment and store building, located at the northwest corner of that thoroughfare and Los Feliz road.

The builders are Charles S. Haymes, A. Carlow Brown and Mr. Jamison, formerly of Minneapolis, where they enjoyed a wide reputation as business property specialists. The building, which will have a frontage of sixty feet on San Fernando road and 160 feet on Los Feliz road, will be known as the Jamison building.

Eight Store Units

It will be two stories in height, built of pressed brick, with stone trimmings. On the ground floor will be eight store units, two on San Fernando road, five on Los Feliz road and one facing the corner. On the second story will be twelve single apartments of the most modern type.

The original permit, issued yesterday by H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent, calls for a construction cost of $50,000, but Mr. Haymes stated this morning that when finished it would represent an investment in the neighborhood of $75,000. H. E. Terrell of Los Angeles is the architect.

Like Location

"I have been in California for six months," said Mr. Haymes this morning," and I have looked over many propositions for the development of business property in southern California, and I consider the particularly strategic location of this corner to be highly desirable. The property is being improved by the Los Angeles Holding company, a new investment corporation composed of former Minneapolis business men."

Mr. Haymes added that he contemplated other extensive improvements in this section in the near future. The contract for the construction of the new building will probably be let next week, and he estimates that it will be completed and ready for occupancy in about four months.

Mr. Haymes is an enthusiastic Glendale booster. He states that in his fifteen years' experience in the real estate line as a business property specialist he has never witnessed finer financial opportunities than exist in Glendale, and especially San Fernando road, at the present time.

REVOLT AGAINST M'ADOO STARTED

Copeland Supporters Launch Fight for Delegates In California

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Althought twice indorsed by the state central committee, which has appointed a committee to conduct his campaign, William Gibbs McAdoo faces a fight today for the California delegation to the Democratic convention in New York.

The Copeland-for-President league completed organization and opened headquarters here today with the avowed purpose of placing a delegation favorable to Senator Royal S. Copeland for the presidential nomination on the Democratic ballot.

The nucleus of the league is the wing of the party which opposed McAdoo at the state central committee meeting, and former Congressman Charles A. Barlow of Bakersfield, has been named president.

Complete Report On Inquiry Into School Problems

The educational committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce this morning adopted, unanimously, the report of the sub-committee which recommended the establishment of a Junior High school, consolidation of Grammar and High school districts and the calling of a meeting of the educational boards and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce to thoroughly investigate the proposed changes. The report in full:

Glendale, California.
March 5, 1924.

C. C. Thom, Chairman,
C. of C. School Committee,
Glendale, Cal.

Dear Sir:—The committee appointed by you on January 21 to investigate and report on the matters of junior high schools and the consolidation of the grammar school district with the Union High school district has completed its investigation and submits the following report:

We interviewed Richardson D. White, superintendent of the Glendale Grammar schools, and George U. Moyse, principal of the Union High schools, with reference to these matters, and attach hereto typewritten statements which these gentlemen prepared for the use of the committee. These statements are very complete and show careful study and a thorough knowledge of the subjects discussed therein.

Make Recommendations

After carefully investigating and considering the many angles of these two important matters, we strongly recommend the establishment of the junior high schools, taking care of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, this being the most advanced idea in education and endorsed by the ablest minds in the educational field.

We also recommend the consolidation of the grammar school district and the high school district as being productive of the greatest efficiency, both from the standpoint of education and operating economy.

By consolidating the two districts the entire educational system would be brought under one head and, considered as a whole, instead of as two separate entities as at present and should result in better co-ordination of curriculum from the kindergarten to graduation from high school. More comprehensive planning of school needs with regard to funds, buildings, etc., to care for the rapidly increasing population should result from this consolidation. Greater economy in operation should result from consolidation, as one special teacher could take care of supervision of music for the entire system, instead of one each for the high and the grammar schools. The same applies to all subjects requiring special supervision. In the business department, the personnel would be less, and the purchasing power greater, the latter enabling better price on school supplies to be secured. The economy in operation would become more marked as the attendance increases from year to year, as the single organization would be able to handle a greater volume of work without less increase of staff than could two separate organizations.

Require Signatures

In order to effect this consolidation it would be necessary to secure the signatures of the majority of heads of families in the La Crescenta, Tujunga and Sunland districts to a petition to annex to Glendale for school purposes, and it is our opinion that if the people of those districts were informed of the educational advantages to be obtained by annexing and being part of a city school district instead of a country district, as at present—that is, advantages such as special supervision in the various lines of study, which supervision is too expensive for the country districts to enjoy—they will be willing to annex to Glendale for school purposes. This will result for them not only in better educational facilities but will also be an aid in the upbuilding of their respective communities through these added facilities inducing people to purchase or build homes there.

We would also recommend that the Chamber of Commerce request the Glendale Board of Education and the Glendale Union High school board to meet at some certain date in the near future and formulate plans for the consolidation of the school systems and for the establishment of the Junior High schools; the Chamber of Commerce appointing a committee composed of its ablest and most influential members to meet with and aid the boards of trustees in this most important work.

Will Be Overcrowded

With the tremendous growth of the school population the grammar schools will be overcrowded at the commencement of school next September, and it is the opinion of this committee that it is imperative that the matters of consolidation and establishment of the Junior High schools be decided at the earliest possible date, in order that the housing conditions, etc., may be economically worked out so that our schools may function with the high standard of efficiency demanded by the people of Glendale.

The committee believes that some decision should be reached with reference to disposition to be made of the old high school plant on Harvard street, and believe that the high school trustees would welcome the help of the Chamber of Commerce in making this decision, as it is one of great importance and will bring about criticism, no matter what may be decided as to disposition to be made of that property.

We further recommend that this report, together with the attached statements of Messrs. Moyse and White, be published in each of the daily papers, in order that the people of Glendale and outlying districts may be informed as to the findings and recommendations made herein.

Respectfully submitted,
H. V. HENRY, Chairman,
R. E. DOWNING,
MRS. JOHN ROBERT WHITE, JR.

INFORMATION SUBMITTED TO PUBLIC ON VITAL QUESTION

Joint Meeting Urged for Further Consideration of Changes In System

The educational committee of the Chamber of Commerce this morning unanimously adopted the report of the sub-committee recommending the establishment of a Junior High school.

The meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, with Chairman Cameron D. Thom presiding.

The report, which is printed in full on this page, recommended:

First — Establishment of a junior high school.

Second—Consolidation of the grammar school and high school districts.

Third—Calling of a meeting of the Glendale board of education with representatives from the Chamber of Com-Commerce, to go thoroughly into the matter.

The following members of the committee were present: Cameron D. Thom, chairman, and Richardson D. White, Normal C. Hayhurst, H. V. Henry, Mrs. John Robert White, Mrs. Eustace B. Moore, Mrs. T. J. Morgan and Miss Eva Daniels.

The subcommittee that made the report comprises H. V. Henry, chairman; Mrs. John Robert White and R. E. Downing. The latter was not present at the meeting.

Get Many Facts

Following adoption of the report, Richardson D. White stated: "The subcommittee has accomplished a significant work in rendering this report, which brings out many facts that have a distinct bearing on our school system. We will all know better now how to proceed toward the realization of a junior high school for Glendale."

Following will be found the report to the committee made by

Laxson's Death Due To Accident Verdict

A verdict of "death due to unavoidable accident" was brought in by the jury which heard the evidence covering the circumstances surrounding the death of John W. Laxson, which occurred after an automobile crash at the Grand View crossing over the Pacific Electric tracks Monday night.

Mr. Laxson, who was driving, was blinded temporarily by the glare from the headlights of a machine approaching from the opposite direction, and ran into the guard fence. A timber crashed through the cowl of his machine, and smashed his chest. Death followed before he reached the hospital.

The jury was composed of F. C. Butler, 103 North Brand boulevard; W. H. Stadt, 408 West Lexington avenue; O. L. Whitaker, 103 North Brand boulevard; G. W. Lyons, 1308 South Brand boulevard; W. H. Hooper, 222 East Broadway, and H. D. Hamm, 222 East Broadway.

Savior of Nice from Turks Is Honored

NICE, March 7.—The memory of Caterina, the woman of Nice who, in 1543, saved her city in a unique manner from the Turks, has been honored by the present inhabitants of the city, who have erected a monument to mark the spot of her daring action. At a moment when the city seemed to be lost to the invaders, who were already storming the walls, Caterina, her throat bare and her hair streaming mounted the summit of the wall, and, using a washboard as her weapon, landed it on the Turk leader's head, laying him low and throwing his followers into disorder. The story has been kept alive by various poets.

Animal skins are beautifully dyed in vats sunk in the ground by the natives of Nigeria in Africa, and the finished skin usually is a red or orange and is said to be as pliable as Russian leather.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Entertains Club

Combining the highest ideals of home-making with a practical solution of some of its problems, Mrs. Helen Graham, of Los Angeles, spoke very interestingly of the "Home of Today and the Home of Tomorrow," before the Thursday Afternoon club yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1423 South Brand.

Mrs. Graham is a contributor to a number of magazines and has had a number of articles syndicated before the metropolitan newspapers. Quoting from a well-known Los Angeles club woman who said "The home of yesterday and today must inevitably lose in the great conflict between drudgery and the finer functionings of family life and the new electric home of tomorrow easily wins the battle." She offered one solution and that is the use of electricity as applied to modern conveniences. She also said that some one has said that not knowing what electricity, the great white coal, really is, it has been defined as "the highest material expression of Infinity."

Following the salute to the flag the members of the club heard the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting of Miss Eva Daniels, secretary.

The report of Mrs. E. J. Morgan, president of the Glendale Auxiliary of the Children's Hospital society was heard with interest as the auxiliary was a Thursday Afternoon club activity and is sponsored by the club.

Mrs. Bacon congratulated the officers of the auxiliary on the splendid showing of the five months of its functioning. On motion of Miss Eva Daniels a rising vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Morgan and the officers of the auxiliary. An honored guest of the day was Mrs. F. W. Kille, secretary of the auxiliary.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hospitality committee. Mrs. Tobias and Miss Daniels being hostesses. Mrs. Augusta P. Summerill, a demonstrator for a corn products company, served a delicious salad to the members and gave an instructive talk on starch either as a cooking or laundry product.

P.-T. A. Gathering

A particularly interesting and enjoyable meeting was held yesterday afternoon by the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association at the school house wtih the president, Mrs. Dean S. Phillips, presiding.

The meeting convened at 3 o'clock when a short business session was held. At this time announcements were made relative to the lectures of the University Extension courses which will be given every Friday morning for the next six consecutive weeks, and also concerning the Third District conference which will be held March 27 at Santa Monica.

The salute to the flag and the singing of "America," led by Mrs. Fannie O. Stone, principal, opened the meeting.

The program presented during the afternoon, which was along educational lines, included a splendid address by Harvey R. Cheesman, Boy Scout executive, on the Boy Scout movement, and Mrs. John Robert White gave an interesting talk on "Child Labor."

Other numbers on the program included two vocal numbers by Miss Doris Barnett, "I Hear You Calling Me" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." Mrs. Nell Few delighted those present with two readings, "The Two Pictures" and "The Watermelon." Both Miss Barnett and Mrs. Few are students of the Emerson School of Self-Expression.

During the room count Mrs. Eleanor B. Badour's room was awarded the first prize and Mrs. Smith's room second prize.

Refreshments and social hour were enjoyed in the cafeteria of the school.

Alumnae to Meet

The University of California will be honored tomorrow, when the Glendale College Women's Club meets for a "U. C." tea at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse on North Central avenue and West Lexington drive.

Alumnae and ex-students of the state university who are affiliated with the club have arranged the affair, which will be featured by the presence of Mrs. Helen Matthewson Laughlin, dean of women of the Southern Branch of the University. She will speak on "Some Phases of University Life."

In addition to this there will be California songs familiar on the campus and a sketch of the institution by a prominent alumnae.

Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, president of the club, will preside over a short business hour early in the afternoon.

All former or present University of California women in Glendale are invited to attend the tea.

Enjoy Card Games

There were seven tables of bridge and five-hundred yesterday at the affair given at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse by the Home Economics department, with Mrs. Allen Fairchild, curator.

Mrs. Fairchild and Mrs. C. O. Thompson were hostesses.

The high score for bridge was won by Mrs. R. V. Cooley of Pasadena, while Mrs. T. Long won the five-hundred prize.

At Hayward Home

Chapter CJ, P. E. O., held an all day meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Julian Hayward, 428 West Lexixngton drive. Mesdames E. P. Hayward, Durham Porter and Julian Hayward were luncheon hostesses.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, president, presided at the business session, following luncheon. In addition to regular business new officers were elected for the coming year as follows: Mrs. J. L. Onstott, president; Mrs. E. D. Yard, vice-president; Mrs. Thos. G. McDougall, recording secretary; Mrs. A. C. Shively, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Roy L. Kent, treasurer; Mrs. J. T. Crampton, chaplain; Mrs. Julian Hayward, guard.

Pleasing features of the afternoon were the reading by Mrs. Julian Hayward of the fifth chapter of an original, serial story and a short reading from Bret Harte by Mrs. E. P. Hayward.

Honor Leader

Mrs. Roger Bentley, retiring president of the R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church, was the honoree last night at a delightful affair given by the members of the class at the home of Mrs. Harry Chase, 1470 East Wilson avenue. Assisting hostesses were Mesdames Fred Abbey, A. J. Maxwell, Roy Kent and Akers.

There were forty members present, most of whom took part in the mock trial of Mrs. Bentley, which caused considerable merriment. During the trial the many things accomplished during the past year by Mrs. Bentley and by the class under her leadership were brought out in the testimony of those taking part.

The rest of the evening was devoted to games, music and a general good time. At a late hour refreshments were served.

During the evening, Mrs. Bentley was presented with a beautiful basket of flowers by the members of the class as a token of their appreciation and love.

Hosts at Bridge

One of the enjoyable social events of the week was the bridge party with which Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Everett entertained a number of friends last night at their home, 532 Spencer place.

The rooms of the Everett home were attractively decorated with pink carnations and greenery and a profusion of early spring flowers.

The evening was devoted to bridge, at which Mrs. D. W. Porter was awarded first prize for high score and Dr. H. J. Friesen second prize. At a late hour a course of refreshments were served.

Those present included Miss M. Sieglas and Frank Pierce of Los Angeles, Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Friesen, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Goertz, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Porter, Miss Linda Goertz and Bill Goertz, all of Glendale.

BUILDING TOTAL OF TWO MILLION

Figures for Year Continue To Increase as Permits Issued Daily

The value of building permits issued during 1924 at the office of H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent, has passed the $2,000,000 mark.

A rush of business yesterday afternoon and this morning brought the total to $2,026,479, of which March is credited with $191,250.

While this mark is slightly behind that of 1923 at the same date business is very brisk, states Mr. Vandewater. Several large projects in the forming promise to boost March into the million dollar class.

The following permits have been issued recently:

BAD COPY

Additional Information Is Given To Public On Change In School System

George U. Moyse, head of the Glendale Union High school, which was recently published in full in The Glendale Evening News, with a statement by Mr. Moyse; copies of letters giving legal points regarding a junior district, and a report by Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools.

Here Is Report From Principal G. U. Moyse

Glendale, California,

To the Committee of Glendale Chamber of Commerce, on Junior High Schools, Glendale, California.

Dear Sirs:

At the outset may I have one thing clearly understood. This report, which I am making at the request of the committee, is not to be construed as outlining or advocating any certain method of establishing a junior high school system. It is simply a careful effort to give such information, relative to the establishment of a junior high school system, as the committee should have to make an intelligent study of the problem.

First—Let us consider the desirability of a junior high school system.

Second—The manner of organizing and financing it.

To answer the fundamental question as to the desirability of junior high schools, we must first ask what is meant by the term "junior high." Do we mean by this simply the grouping together of the seventh, eighth and ninth years with their present course of study? If we mean this, then the sole gain, educationally, lies in the fact that children of like adolescent age are grouped together. It is, then, simply housing the seventh, eighth and ninth grades under the same roof and apart from the grades below and above them, without any change in the present curriculum.

This was the old idea of a junior high, but it is far remote from the spirit and plan of the new junior high. There is probably no other division of our educational system that has commanded the thought of our leaders in education during the last few years, to the extent that the junior high has. The Departments of Education in our leading universities have been studying it and doing research work bearing upon the physiological and mental development of the adolescent child. The school departments of our leading cities have been trying out various programs and courses of study within their respective school departments. As a consequence, the development of the junior high and its course of study has been very rapid within the last few years and subject to many experimental changes.

The new junior high is not a mere housing of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades under the same roof. It does rightly place these grades in buildings by themselves, but it gives these children studies and work which find response in their life and interests. During the adolescent years, new forces arise within the child. He begins to think and act for himself. The content of his work should be chosen with full consideration of his physical and mental awakening and the corresponding change in his attitude toward social life. His school needs to be a "discovery" school—a place where he may try himself out along various lines and discover his personal aptitudes, so that when he enters senior high he has a better chance of knowing what he can do best and so have a definite goal toward which he can work.

The new junior high centers its text-book study about a series of short term occupational courses which give the student no special trade knowledge but much of general information that is most helpful. In taking these short courses in occupational work, the child has the opportunity of trying himself out in a number of different lines of work. He has had chances to discover his own aptitudes at the time his adolescent development naturally sends him out in quest of new experiences and personal discoveries. His unrest is satisfied and he becomes a good member of the school community. "Junior high" in this NEW sense cannot but meet our hearty approbation and our leading educators unqualifiedly indorse it.

Second, let us consider the organizing and financing of a junior high school system. The question as to whether the junior high school system shall be established here after annexation of the districts of the high school district in one Glendale City district, or as a system of union junior high schools under the present Glendale Union High School Board of Trustees is not the vital problem in the case. The system can be established in a satisfactory manner by either method.

The vital problem is the problem of properly financing the junior high school system. Under the school law of California, there is no such thing as a junior high school district. The state has established the elementary and the high school district, each as a separate entity having separate funds for its maintenance, and this holds true whether a union or a city district. For instance: In cities where the high schools and elementary schools belong to the same district and are managed by the one board, all funds and properties of each must be kept separate. Funds cannot legally be taken from the elementary schools for the use of the high, or vice versa. And no provision whatsoever has as yet been made in the law for a junior high district and a junior high maintenance fund. Therefore, when we establish this new division, the junior high, and introduce the word "high" into the name, this will make it under the law a part of the high school system and places the cost of all sites and buildings and the greater part of its maintenance upon the high school funds without any increase of bonding capacity or maintenance fund. If a system of junior highs be organized, then the expense of sites, buildings, equipment and instruction must come entirely from the high school funds, since the elementary school funds cannot be used for this purpose.

Now the vital factor in this case for us is whether the assessed valuation of the union high school district is ample to provide these two items:

(a) Bonding capacity sufficient for the issuance of bonds for the purchase of sites and buildings and furnishing suitable buildings for these necessary new junior high buildings, in addition to the completion of the present senior high school.

(b) An assessed valuation upon which the rate allowed by law would provide a sum sufficient for the annual cost of maintenance and instruction of grades 7th and 8th in addition to what it has been carrying.

The Glendale Union High School district now consists of Glendale City, La Crescenta, Tujunga, and Monte Vista (Sunland) elementary school districts. There are no contiguous elementary school districts now not in some high school district which it might annex and thereby increase the boundaries. The territory, then, available for taxation cannot be enlarged. The assessed valuation of the present Glendale Union High School district is the absolute basis of support of junior and senior high schools.

If annexation takes place and an enlarged Glendale City district is formed, the high school assessed valuation then becomes the assessed valuation of this consolidated district for junior and senior high purposes. If the union high school district remains as it is and the union jjunior high system is organized, it is this same assessed valuation that must support it and the present senior high grades. The territory covered, be it called a union district or a city district, is the same.

This financial question must have careful consideration at the outset of this new movement. The availability and cost of available sites must be determined, also the approximate cost of the necessary buildings. The present location of junior highs in Glendale is practically determined. The Boards of Trustees of La Crescenta, Tujunga and Monte Vista may well make a survey in their districts and make a report of their findings.

Various architects would gladly give a close approximate cost of the buildings specified. With this information on hand, the costs of the new installation could be reckoned against the present and probable future bonding capacity of the district.

Of the desirability of the junior high school in the new sense there can be no doubt. Whether the bonding capacity can carry the load can be estimated. If the district can carry the financial load, then it is for the people to tell the governing board to proceed toward the necessary bond issues to enable them to start this excellent movement. The technical points which are involved in the organizing of a junior high school system are covered in my letter to the County Counsel and his reply, copies of which I enclose.

May I assure the committee of my hearty interest in this problem before us and my desire to serve them in any way possible.

Very sincerely,
GEORGE U. MOYSE.

Pennsylvanian Seeks Presidency on Platform Reducing Cost of Living

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa., March 7—Every now and then a candidate for office comes out with a card showing a slight variation of the time worn "your vote and support is respectfully solicited," but John W. Hedderich, Jr., is passing one around that is admitted to be entirely original. Hedderich's card is about three by five inches and tells everything from the pronunciation of his name to all the details of his platform. He would like to go to congress.

On the face of the card is Hedderich's picture and the note that the name is pronounced "Headrick." He says he is a "La Follette Progressive," was drafted and served overseas with a unit of the 80th division. After that statement in capital letters are the words—"NOT A SHAVE TAIL." Beneath his picture is the statement: "I was born the year of the BATTLE OF HOMESTEAD, when Labor was defeated by Capital."

Here's His Platform

The platform which he announces is, he says, "what you will get after you clean the tools of Big Business out of office." The platform follows in part:

5c sugar all the year around.
5c beer same as before the war.
7c gasoline, same as in California.

Where Does He Get That Stuff?

5c carfares and free transfers.
2c phone calls, same as first-class letter.
Lower R. R. rates, higher R. R. wages.
More pay for clerks, less profits for companies.
No injunctions, jail for Daugherty.
Stop immigration, keep up wages.
No war, richest men first over the top.
Legally TRESSILAN anyone who dares to interfere with enforcement of LAW as enacted by Congress.

In a foot note he explains the use of the new verb Tressilan by telling that he was the chief justice of the supreme court of England who was hanged for declaring unconstitutional a law passed by parliament and the other members of the court were banished from the kingdom."

In another prominent footnote he says: "If 5c beer is the only item you favor in the above list, don't vote for me—I DON'T WANT YOUR VOTE."

TOKIO, Mar. 7.—Following the marriage of the Prince Regent of Japan and the Princess Nagako Kuni publication of the Princess's New Year's poem was authorized. The Crown Princess, following the imperial command for all Japanese to write poems on the subject "Shinnen-kokorozashi-in" (Speak Your Heart in Regard to New Year's), wrote as follows:

"As thou risest among snow-laden

The Princess was deeply affected by the ruin wrought by earthquake and fire in her native city, and this is said to have been responsible for the words "this shattered and troubled life."

New Remedy Found for Sleeping Sickness

BERLIN, Mar. 7.—A new remedy for sleeping sickness has been discovered by Prof. Kleine, of Berlin. Kleine, who conducted a campaign against the disease in German East Africa before the war has returned to Berlin after a two years' expedition through the South African Union, Rhodesia and the Congo, where he tested the new remedy.

In a speech delivered before the Berlin Medical Society, Prof. Kleine said even the most critical stage of the disease was cured in numerous cases. Relapses occurred only in a few cases. Researches will be made to see whether the remedy may be applied to cattle.

Prof. Kleine will soon deliver a lecture on his invention before the London Medical Faculty.

Pipe Organ Soothing to Tired Out Nerves

MONMOUTH, Ill., Mar. 7.—A new use for music, that soother of "the savage breast," has been found by the faculty of Monmouth college. During the semester examinations a policy of having a twenty-minute pipe-organ recital for the students at the close of the examination period each afternoon was adopted.

Whether the melodious tones of the organ are able to soothe the student who has failed to pass an examination is still an unproved hypothesis. Faculty members claim that these short recitals give the students a few moments strenuous period of examinations. of mental relaxation during the Members of the student body are reserving their judgment until after the grade cards have been received.

THREE INDICTED IN BRIBERY PLOT

Plan to Corrupt Daugherty And Aides Charged by U. S. Grand Jury

NEW YORK, March 7. — Indictments charging conspiracy to bribe United States Attorney-General Daugherty, William Hayward, United States district attorney for this district, and two of his assistants, Major John Holley Clark, Jr., and Peter J. McCoy, were returned by a federal grand jury today against Gaston B. Means, former agent of the department of justice; Colonel Thomas B. Felder, prominent lawyer, and Elmer Jarneski.

The indictments grew out of the alleged payment of $65,000 to the three men by some of the men indicted in the stock frauds of the Crager System, Inc., a concern which floated stock of the Glass Casket company.

Hiram C. Todd, assistant district attorney, said the money was paid to Means, Felder and Jarneski on representations that they could squelch the proceedings through special influence.

Summon Trio Before Investigating Body

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 7.—Three telegraphic subpoenas demanding instant appearance before the Senate investigating committee just named to probe into the conduct of the department of justice by Harry Daugherty were served here today.

United States Marshal D. A. Walker, brother-in-law of the attorney general, served M. A. Wiseman, former head of the Mexican section of the department of justice; Ranger Captain H. C. Baldwin, former operative of the department, and John Camp, Mexican secret service operative. The trio will leave for Washington Sunday morning.

On December 28, McLean wired Mitchell Palmer, former atney-general, that "I feel it uld be a mistake to give out statement on my behalf. Of rse, I will be guided by Mcoo and you."

ra E. Bennett then took the witness stand.

The code "apricots" and "the champion" frequently were mentioned in messages to McLean from Washington.

On February 28 "John" wired McLean:

"Party not called today. He will not go on till Monday. McAdoo will probably go on the stand Monday to be followed by the Denver editor. The count will see apples today. Failure of Fall to appear has reduced public interest to minimum."

Bennett said that "apples" referred to former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall. He said he had twice delivered messages to Fall including the telegram signed "I. E. B.," read into the record today.

"Apples for Fall"

Bennett said he saw Fall shortly before the ex-secretary left Washington for Florida.

"I understood that Mr. Major and others used the word 'apples' for Fall," said Bennett. "That was my understanding."

Bennett said he had no code, knowing only that "apples" was Fall.

He said that the other code words in the "I. E. B." message were "utterly blanks to me." John F. Major, McLean's confidential man, supplied code words whenever he wanted to send secret messages, Bennett said.

Two Congressmen Deny They Have Done Any Wrong

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—The capital's new scandal, in which a Chicago grand jury charged two members of Congress with accepting bribes, today awaited action by the department of justice on a House resolution demanding publication of the names.

Gossip in capitol cloak rooms linked the names of Representative John W. Langley, Republican, of Kentucky, and Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, Republican, of Maryland, so insistently that they issued statements that they were innocent of wrongdoing.

Neither member stood charged with any crime but reports gave their names such repeated circulation that, acting independently, the two congressmen finally moved to end the gossip.

"Until I know what accusations have been made against me," said Zihlman, "I do not desire to attempt to answer them. Meanwhile no one ought to pass judgment on me. I do not know of having committed any wrong and I am ready for any kind of an inquiry."

Denies Being Guilty

Langley said he had received information that his name was being mentioned by colleagues in connection with the grand jury's report.

"I know of no reason for the circulation of this report," Langley added. "I am guilty of no wrongful acts. When specific charges are made, if any should be, I will make a full reply to them. Until then I can merely await developments.

While neither Zihlman nor Langley was mentioned, one high governmental official told International News Service that the scandal was based upon charges laid before the department of justice by a confessed criminal. This informer, who admitted his guilt in another crime against the government, was said to have declared a member of congress was instrumental in obtaining the return of a quantity of seized liquor. He claimed to have acted as "go-between" in the transaction, and stated he had received $7,000 from the owner of the seized liquors for his services and that he subsequently shared this money with the congressman and others.

Have Long Service

Both Langley and Zihlman are experienced legislators. Langley ranked twenty-third on the House seniority list, having served nine consecutive terms from the Tenth Kentucky district. He rose to chairmanship of the house committee on public grounds and buildings. He is a lawyer.

Zihlman, serving his fourth term from the Sixth Maryland district, was a former president of the Maryland state federation of labor. He holds the chairmanship of the house committee on labor.

Friends of both members rallied to their defense today, threatening to institute an investigation of the source which inspired the use of their names in connection with the case.

Women Writers Of Southland Plan For Press Luncheon At Convention Of California Federation Of Clubs

Plans for the press luncheon, Wednesday, April 9, at the annual convention of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, occupied the time and attention of those attending the press conference held yesterday in Los Angeles under the direction of Mrs. Leland Atherton Irish, district press chairman.

Miss Eva Daniels, publicity chairman of the Tuesday Afternoon club, who is to handle reservations for the luncheon, was in attendance and reports much enthusiasm over this convention event, which will be open only to club presidents, press chairmen and club editors.

Speakers at the conference yesterday were Mrs. John C. Urquhart, president of the California Federation; Mrs. E. E. Leighton, chairman of art for the Los Angeles district; Mrs. E. M. Timerhoff, chairman of the state publication; Caroline Walker and Grace Frye, Los Angeles newspaper women.

Every press chairman in the Los Angeles district has been urged to keep a scrap book of the publicity she has secured for her club, and at the luncheon next month these books will be exhibited and a prize given to the largest one.

There will be 100 reservations available for the luncheon and those eligible to attend and desiring reservations are to communicate with Miss Eva Daniels at 324 West Colorado street, Glendale 911-J.

the high school, and they must cross the area swept by high water earlier in the week.

In this connection, he asked the association to indorse Alexander Mitchell, a resident of that vicinity, as a school board trustee. A resolution to this effect was passed, and the support of the association pledged.

Fight Factory Site

The action of the City Council in making the tract of land bounded by Fourth street, Grand View avenue, Ruberta avenue and San Fernando road as an industrial district will be opposed by the association, J. A. Gyger, vice-president, said. The tract should be a residential section, and factories there would hinder the growth of the city.

As an alternative, the association members suggest the tract lying between the San Fernando road and the Southern Pacific tracks as factory sites. Such a tract would afford considerable track frontage, and would leave San Fernando road and Fourth streets for boulevards.

President J. T. Randall appointed Mr. Gyger, Mr. Newby and C. L. Jenkins as members of a committee to draft a petition protesting against the proposed industrial district, and secure signatures of property owners.

Extend Invitation

An invitation was extended to members of the Foothills Improvement association to meet with the Fourth Street Improvement association on March 20, when the industrial district, school elections, improvement plans and other matters will be discussed.

The Fourth Street Improvement association was formed in February to boost a through boulevard from Burbank to Pasadena. The order has a membership of about fifty, and meetings are held on the first and third Thursdays of each month.

Officers of the association are: J. H. Randall, president; J. A. Gyger, vice-president; Mrs. J. A. Gyger, secretary, and C. L. Jenkins, treasurer.

DORMITORY BUILT BY COLLEGE MEN

Students Don Overalls, Erect Building for Co-Eds At Low Cost

CARLINVILLE, Ill., March 7—Students of Blackburn college here have put the theory of "earn and learn," upon which the institution is founded, into actual practice.

Between classes of Greek and higher mathematics a new women's dormitory has arisen on the college campus, every stick and brick of which have been placed and laid by students, who donned overalls and "fell to" like paid workmen.

The need of a new dormitory became pressing. There were so many co-eds at the institution that two Pullman cars had to be placed on a nearby siding and fitted up for the girl students. There was no money to build a new dormitory, in view of present high costs of material and labor.

"We'll build it," the male students said.

Material at Cost

They did. In a comparatively few months the structure has grown to a modern, fire-proof building. Second-hand lumber, materials bought at reduced prices and a willingness on the part of all the school to aid, lent to the success of the venture.

W. G. Bierd, president of the Chicago & Alton railroad, seeking to aid the students, contributed much toward the venture.

Now the college has a new slogan. It is: "Earning and learning go hand in hand at Blackburn."

URGE HOME FOR CALIPH

ROME, Mar. 7.—The newspaper Messaggero suggested that one of the Italian royal palaces be placed at the disposal of the deposed Caliph.

COULD NOT WAIT ON THE PEOPLE

J. Soules Makes Apology

On my opening day from early morning until late at night, my new store was crowded. I simply couldn't wait on them. Wanted an opportunity to talk with each customer personally and take all measures myself, but that was impossible. I am pleased with the splendid business I received and thank you all heartily for such cordial welcome as I received.

THE PEOPLE of GLENDALE and Vicinity Appreciate Good Tailoring at Right Prices and That Is What We Will Give Them.

Only One More Day, SATURDAY

I have one of the largest stocks in the West. Look it over anyway tomorrow, whether you buy or not. It's all the same to me whether you buy tomorrow or later. What I mostly desire is that you know Jimmy Soules.

Everybody now knows Jimmy Soules, the Tailor. Jimmy Soules' suits will be worn by all the well dressed men of Glendale and vicinity, as Jimmy Soules will make good every promise and every suit sold at $32.50 will be a regular $60 to $70 suit. Advertising costs money, but I am determined to let every man in the county know me and jump right into a big business my first season in Glendale. Two hundred pleased men in one week who will tell hundreds and will return again and again for their clothes are worth all that it costs me to advertise and give suits for less than the cost of making. At the urgent request of many people who came to my shop Saturday, but who were unable to make deposits, and because I was obliged to turn so many away, I have decided to extend the opening sale

One More Day— Saturday, Tomorrow

One more day for Glendale men to buy $60 and $70 Suits for $32.50. Remember I make every suit to measure and give the same careful attention to workmanship as I do in regular $60 and $70 suits. The linings are the best, the shoulders are molded by hand and fronts guaranteed not to break.

WIVES, DAUGHTERS KIWANIAN GUESTS

Club Members Are Hosts to Women Relatives at Weekly Luncheon

Dull care, household worries and the problem of "What shall the menu be" were individually and jointly dispelled today noon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse when the mothers' and daughters' meeting of the Kiwanis club was held. The attendance is believed to have set a record for Kiwanis meetings, a check showing nearly 175 persons present.

Every member of the club, in accordance with the instructions given last week by President A. L. Baird, brought one or more ladies to the luncheon. Mothers were to be presented, and if the members had no daughters, they should "borrow" one for the day.

In conjunction with the luncheon, the club joined in the National Canned Food week celebration, and the articles on the menu were mainly canned goods tastefully prepared.

Beside every plate had been placed a canned article. The attendance prizes and "silent boost" were secured by Harry MacBain and "Tot" Totman, and consisted of every known variety of canned fruit, beans, fish, salad dressing, peanut butter, mustard, cocktail sauce, figs, mayonnaise, vinegar, olives and other articles.

Canned Goods Donated

Ten cases of assorted canned goods were donated by the Austin-Nichols company of New York, through the courtesy of Mr. Horwitz, factory representative. Mr. Totman, as district manager for the H. G. Chaffee company, also donated ten cases of assorted goods.

The attendance prizes were won by Mrs. C. W. Taylor and Eugene Gordon. Adele Truitt, 5-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. "Bill" Truitt, was given the prize for being the youngest member of a Kiwanis family present.

When President Baird announced a prize for the largest Kiwanis family represented at the luncheon, the names of H. M. Parker, Max Green and Fred Walton were entered, each family having four members present. To decide the winner lots were drawn and Mr. Green was given the prize.

Candy for Girls

During the luncheon boxes of candy were given the daughters present, and later boxes of candy were awarded to the mothers in the attendance prize drawing.

The carnival spirit prevailed at the meeting, as toy balloons sailed through the air and were tossed and batted by the guests. Paper hats were found at the plates and all present were requested to wear them.

The Golden State Collegians, an eight-piece orchestra from the Southern Branch of the University of California, furnished music throughout the luncheon. The service of the orchestra was donated. John Farrell was the director.

There was no set program for the meeting, and all business ordinarily taken care of each week was postponed until the next meeting. Rev. Clifford Cole was designated by President Baird to deliver a short talk, setting forth what the Kiwanis club thought of the ladies.

The following mothers and daughters were present:

Miss Helen Cook, Mrs. Jack Cook, Mrs. Herman Nelson, Miss Edith Mae Nelson, Mrs. C. M. Conkling, Mrs. F. R. Garthey, Mrs. H. M. Parker, Miss Helen Parker, Mrs. R. T. Philp, Mrs. Frank L. Fox, Mrs. E. A. Bode, Mrs. Ben F. Dupuy, Mrs. W. L. Truitt, Mrs. E. O. Kiefer, Miss Dorothy Kiefer, Mrs. Harry E. Hall, Margaret Brown, Mrs. M. D. Davis, Mrs. A. L. Baird, Mrs. F. B. Johnston, Mrs. James Webb, Mrs. D. H. Webb, Mrs. N. M. White, Mrs. Max Green, Patty Green, Mrs. Clifford Cole, Helen Walton, Mrs. Ray, Mrs. C. W. Taylor, Mrs. Fred Deal, Mrs. G. J. Lyons, Mrs. C. W. Ingledue, Mrs. E. N. Radke, Mrs. Alfred Priest, Mrs. Billy Hatz, Eleanor Ferguson, Mrs. Park Arnold, Mrs. Chas. Sherrod, Mrs. Grace Andresen, Mrs. H. E. Wilson, Narcisse Truitt, Mrs. C. C. Sherrod, Mrs. R. M. Brown.

"HART BEATS"

Thousands of successful investors in real estate have their broker to thank for their fortunes.

Men turn to real estate after losing money in every other form of investment, and if honest, will protect the broker who protects them. Before building a home, erecting a building, drilling a well, planting a crop or developing a mine a plot of ground must first be secured. Values must necessarily rise, especially in rapidly growing urban centers of population. Where in all the U. S. may we find a more suggestive urban center for profitable investment than Glendale? 100% profit yearly is common, yet many of our substantial men who have ready money are sitting back, so to speak, and letting others reap the harvest. Our clients are increasing daily, because we sell direct from the owner and are satisfied with a small brokerage. Right now is the time to pick up one or two of our sure profit makers on the East Side.

We invite the confidence of one and all, and challenge comparisons. We are on the job day and night and know values.

Diminutive Baby Will Live, Say Physicians

DENVER, March 7.—With the aid of the best medical knowledge in Denver and the careful vigilance of nurses, it is believed that the three-pound baby girl—the tiniest ever born in this city—of Mrs. E. J. Small, of this city, will live.

The mite of humanity was fed for several days with a medicine dropper and, nestled between two hot water bottles, kept at a temperature of 98 degrees.

Many Arabs becoming tired of sitting cross-legged in the sand, are now buying folding chairs, according to reports from the manufacturers of these articles in Austria.

Lone Robber Enters All Houses in Town

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 7.—A lone man, without a hat and wearing an abbreviated overcoat, re-enacted the Fabius Quintillus episode in ancient Carthage by ransacking the town of Moore, near here.

The Oklahoma Quintillus broke into all of Moore's twelve residences while the occupants slept, but was rewarded with only $20 and a watch, Deputy Sheriff H. T. Gissem said.

Rocks on the crest of a mountain in the Bismarck archipelago of Oceanica, which scientists believe contain radium, throw off a glow which can be seen for several miles.

Heavy Bond Issues For Colorado Schools

DENVER, March 7.—Bond issues against various school districts throughout Colorado have increased nearly 500 per cent since 1915, according to figures compiled by the State Immigration Department here. Reports to the department indicate that every one of the state's 63 counties contain at least one school district with an outstanding bond issue, and some of the larger counties have several school districts with outstanding issues.

A majority of the bond issues are in connection with extensive school-building programs.

Bees' lives are from three weeks to five months.

Underground Fire Is Slowly Taking Town

LONDON, March 7.—Tipton, a small town in Staffordshire, is being slowly, but systematically, destroyed by subterranean fire.

The fire is supposed to have originated some months ago by spontaneous combustion underneath some artificial waste land near the town, and ever since it has been steadily gnawing its way toward the town.

Stables, houses and cottages have been destroyed, and whole rows of houses have been rendered uninhabitable through the walls cracking and steam issuing through the floors, while the whole town is pervaded by an overwhelming smell of coal-gas fumes.

Drunkard Urged to Get A Photo As Reminder

ATTLEBORO, March 7.—After pleading guilty to the charge of drunkenness, Gaspard Messier, of West Mansfield, was advised by Judge Haggerty to have himself photographed as soon as he left the court and to hang the photograph where he might see it every day.

Messier appeared in court with his face battered and his clothing badly torn.

"If you could have a portrait before you as you look now, you would never take another drink in your life," said Judge Haggerty.

High School Pupils Observe Arbor Day

Arbor day was observed this afternoon at both branches of the Glendale Union High school, in charge of the science department. At the Broadway High school, Earl Brown, head of this department, conducted the program in the auditorium from 1:20 until 2:20 o'clock, which was featured by a nature talk by Alfred Cookman, formerly a teacher in the Glendale Union High school, and now in the science department of the Los Angeles Polytechnic High school. He is the son of Rev. W. W. Cookman.

At the Harvard High school the Arbor day exercises were in charge of Ross Miller of the science department and were featured by motion pictures.

Principal George U. Moyse of the High school states that a large projecting machine will soon be installed in the auditorium of the Broadway High school, machines of various makes now being under consideration.

POLICEMEN WILL GUARD CHILDREN

Fraser Assigns Officers to Protect Little Ones at City Schools

Further steps to protect the lives of Glendale school children while going to and from school were taken this morning by Chief of Police John D. Fraser when he called the eight motor officers into conference and detailed each one for school duty, beginning next Monday morning.

The crossings will be protected from 8 to 9 a. m., from 12 o'clock until 1 p. m., and from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m. The assignment of the officers is as follows: Officer Heminger, Glendale avenue and Acacia avenue schools; Officer Divine, Broadway school; Officer Collins, Wilson avenue school; Officer Hutton, Doran street and Columbus avenue schools; Officer Jones, assisting school children across the street at Brand boulevard and Park avenue; Officer Butler, Pacific avenue school; Officer Baugh, assisting children at Doran street and Glendale avenue and at the east approach to the Doran street school; Officer Zimmerman, at Colorado and Louise to protect the students of the ninth grade in the Harvard street school.

Motorcycles Arrive

The eight motor officers are fully equipped at the present time, the last machine arriving yesterday. In addition to the officers stationed in proximity to the school, patrolmen will be stationed at the principal crossings in town to look after children crossing the street. Some of the crossings designated were Brand and Colorado, Brand and Broadway, and Brand and Wilson.

The motor officers, in addition to their school duties, will regulate traffic in the city, paying especial attention to Brand boulevard and San Fernando road.

"I believe that with these precautions parents may send their children to school without worry," said Chief Fraser this morning. "I feel that the lives of the youngsters must be protected at all costs. I am awaiting recommendations from the engineer now as to the number of safety signs required to properly police the approaches to all the schools. That part of the problem is still under advisement."

Raps Street Signs

The chief stated that he had found in his investigations that safety zones painted on the street pavement were not of any particular value, as the motorist did not see them in time to slow down sufficiently to make the lives of the children in the zone secure.

However, he intimated that wide safety zones might be included in the comprehensive scheme along with several other innovations which he and V. B. Stone, the city manager, are working out.

Industrial District For Valley Planned

Glendale was represented by President W. E. Hewitt of the Chamber of Commerce; George B. Karr, L. T. Rowley and J. M. Wilson at a significant San Fernando valley development banquet held last night at the Porter Hotel, San Fernando, at which Secretary Hugh Pomeroy of the regional planning commission presided.

Leading men from every line of business and professional endeavor in Los Angeles and all surrounding territory were present, Mr. Hewitt states. The object of the gathering was to make of the San Fernando valley a great industrial district and place a limit on property values that will not be prohibitive to manufacturers.

"The city of Glendale stands willing and eager to reciprocate in any movement for the development of the San Fernando valley," Mr. Hewitt told the assemblage, addressing them on behalf of this city.

Woman Cuts Timber and Rides Horse at 70

NEWCASTLE, Wyo., March 7.—Cutting her own wood on her ranch north of this city, Mrs. Lillian Portwood, 70 years old, is a familiar figure in Newcastle as she hauls the timber a distance of thirty miles into town for sale among local residents.

Mrs. Portwood is very active and frequently makes the sixty miles from her ranch to Newcastle and return on horseback in a single day. She performs all the work on the ranch.

Mrs. Portwood came to Wyoming thirty years ago from Havana, Ill.

She claims the distinction of having shaken hands with Abraham Lincoln when he was campaigning in Illinois for the presidency.

Many Are Starving To Death in Germany

DUBLIN, March 7.—One hundred and five Berliners died of starvation in the first ten months of last year. More than 300 persons living in Berlin or Berlin suburbs committed suicide to avoid starvation.

Police statistics show a 20 per cent increase in suicides against last year's total. While deaths in consequence of starvation chiefly occurred to elderly people of the poor classes the suicide wave sought its victims especially among middle-class people. The deathroll of suicides from fear of starvation contains the names of one university professor, one Ph.D., one ex-lieutenant-colonel, several painters and a considerable number of formerly well-to-do widows who have been deprived of their fortunes by the collapse of the mark.

In numerous cases elderly couples sought death together by opening the gas pipes. It has been ascertained that starved people lived on nothing but potato peels for months prior to their self-chosen death.

Suspect King Boris Is Hunting a Bride

SOFIA, March 7.—King Boris has announced he is going traveling, and there are two explanations for the trip. The semi-official report is that the King needs a rest after four years constantly on the throne. The unofficial and more general impression, however, is that the King is going in search of a queen. Rumor has had King Boris, who is 29 years old, affianced to Rumanian, English, Italian and Serbian princesses, but the various alliances have failed to materialize. The Bulgarians are anxious for a queen—hence the romantic version of the purpose of King Boris' trip through Europe.

PASTOR FLAYS 'MACHINE-LIKE' WAY OF LIVING

Too Much Emphasis Put on Machinery and Too Little on Culture

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, March 7.—Modern men are "caught in the cogs of a mighty engine that grinds the life out of them, for no rational and justifiable end," declares Rev. R. J. Campbell, D.D., one of England's best known religious publicists.

Modern industrial civilization, on the whole, is a bad thing, Rev. Campbell states, and declares that the time has come when it should be replaced by a "saner and more harmonious mode of regulating our common activities."

Speed—For What?

"We live too much by mechanism and too little by cultural values," the doctor says. "We tend to think always in terms of the machine; it is ever in the foreground of our vision, and if we could manage to alter the perspective drastically we should be all the better for it.

"Our inventions and discoveries are nearly all in the direction of speeding up—but for what? We are disemboweling Nature as fast as we can, but we grow no happier in the process; rather the contrary.

"One of the greatest anomalies of the age is that, by all our vastly accelerated methods of producing wealth we have not yet learned how to enjoy it. We toil harder than ever; the strain of living becomes more intense; its demands upon us grow rapidly greater, without any corresponding accession of general well-being.

Need New Outlook

"The thing is so foolish that we should have done with it if we were not so deeply immersed in it and so completely fashioned by it as to take it for granted.

"The remedy does not lie in the hands of any one man or any one government. It will involve an entire change of outlook on the part of civilized mankind; and this may come sooner than we dare to hope.

"Some day we may realize that the scramble is not worth while, that our material gains are too dearly purchased and that, without losing anything worth retaining, we can slow down and take more time to think about what man is than about what he was."

Coffin Odd 'Gift' To Viscount Goto In Japan's Scandal

Former Minister Blamed by Many for Attack on Prince Regent

By DUKE N. PARRY
For International News Service

TOKIO, March 7.—Carrying a white wooden coffin, upon which they had inscribed a sinister message, four men forced their way into the home of Viscount Shimpel Goto, former minister of home affairs and an outstanding Japanese liberal, here lately. The men apparently had no desire to do damage to the home of the former minister, who has done so much to encourage relations with soviet Russia. They indicated, however, that they felt Goto responsible, as home minister, for the attack, which police did not stop, on the person of the prince regent of Japan, when a young man tried to shoot the regent on January 25.

"To Goto, with the compliments of the season," was the message which the coffin carried to the viscount. The men escaped before the nature of their "gift" was discovered. A few days later several Japanese of the laboring class forced their way into the Goto home and did considerable damage, breaking art objects and in other ways making themselves objectionable. It is stated that the former home minister has become dejected because of these attacks, and more so because of the feeling in many circles that it was his encouragement of liberal movements for the people which aided in working up a spirit which caused the youth, Namba, to fire a shot at the prince regent of Japan, young god of the Japanese people. But a short time ago a figure in the daily newspapers and a man to be reckoned with in all matters of state concern, Goto is today completely out of the limelight of Japanese politics.

HONORS FAIL TO SPOIL PREMIER

Ramsay MacDonald Sees No Reason for Pensioning Retired Officials

LONDON, March 7.—J. Ramsay MacDonald, first Labor Premier of Great Britain, has no illusions about his greatness.

MacDonald states very frankly that he doesn't feel that he is entitled to spend the rest of his life living in luxury, at the expense of the British people.

"I would be perfectly happy to resume my former private life on a small income," McDonald said when questioned regarding his views on pensions for ex-Premiers.

"I detest the idea that a man cannot serve his country in its highest offices without an income of several thousand pounds a year.

"The expenses are, of course, enormous; but on retiring from office, why not go back to the simple life, with its porridge and plainness?"

MacDonald intimated very clearly that when his term of office ends he will be happy to return to his modest home in Hampstead and forget the glories that surrounded him while he resided in Downing Street. He looks upon service to his nation as an asset to character and not an asset to social position and is not at all likely to confuse the homage paid him as Premier with his own private character.

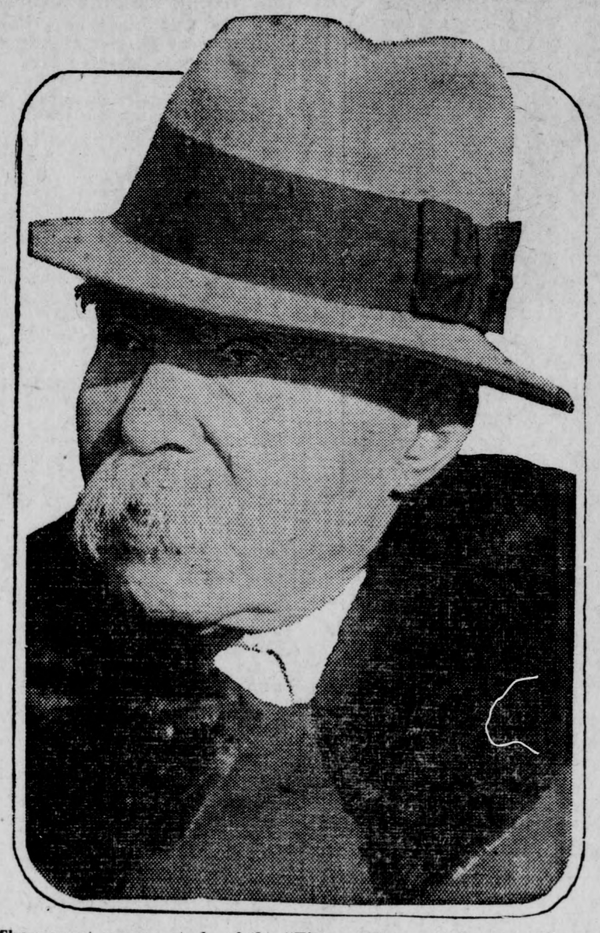
There have been few changes in the life of Ramsay MacDonald since he became Prime Minister. He still wears the slightly shabby overcoat which he wore as leader of the Labor Party in the House of Commons. He still rides in the subway when necessary.

Wettest Year in Erin Says Rainfall Report

DUBLIN, Mar. 7.—Ireland had its wettest year in a century in 1923—as regards rainfall. Meteorologists estimate the aggregate rainfall at 56,000 tons, or 56.11 inches, according to American standards of measuring rainfall. There were 271 rainy days during the year, seventeen more than in any year since 1823. The results of the dampness have been, it is said, an increased death rate and lowered vitality.

CRY FOR CLEMENCEAU IS HEARD

Frenchmen Believe He Can Prevent Disaster



The newest camera study of the "Tiger of France," Georges Clemenceau.

PARIS, March 7.—Clemenceau, That is the name on the lips of Frenchmen as their country faces one of its greatest crises since 1870. There is hope that the aged "Tiger of France" can save them from the whirlpool of bankruptcy the country seems inevitably headed for. Twice he has been premier of his country, and again he is willing to assume the reins of power, despite the fact that he avowed he was done with politics for good when his government, born at a critical time in the war, was broken in the tempest that followed the peace.

France is in a very bad way. The storm has been gathering for months. A year ago the clouds were on the horizon. France foolishly has been trying to keep the news from the world by showing its displeasure whenever a foreign correspondent hinted that the French ship of state was headed for the rocks.

There are, as a prominent American economist, Scott Nearing, has pointed out, three stages in the financial decay of a modern empire; in the first stage bills are paid out of tax receipts; in the second bills are paid by borrowing; in the third bills are paid by issuing paper money. Britain is in the first stage; France is well through the second; Germany has nearly completed the third. When the final stage has been passed, the empire is bankrupt.

Within the past decade Russia, Austria, Poland and some of the lesser European countries have passed through these stages of financial dissolution. Today France, following closely on the heels of Germany, is treading the same course.

France is spending nearly forty-five billion francs a year. Her regular revenue for 1923 yielded twenty-three billion francs or about half her expenditures. The deficit was paid by borrowing. French credit is virtually exhausted. This fact appears in the prices of French bonds and in the depreciation of the franc.

A survey of the obligations carried by the French government reveals its utter instability. A short time ago its liabilities were about 430 billions of francs, distributed as follows:

	Billion francs.
Pre-war debt	25
War loans	120
Short term loans	114
Owing Bank of France	24
Foreign debt	124
Miscellaneous	23

If France were to pay 5 per cent on these obligations the interest charge alone would require 21.5 billion francs or nine-tenths of her total income. She escapes the difficulty by paying no interest on her debt to the U. S. and borrowing to meet her other obligations.

Since the war France has been operating a large empire; maintaining an army of three-quarters of a million; building the largest air fleet in the world; lending more than six billions of francs to Euthonia, Lithuania, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia, Roumania, in order to maintain her pan-European control; occupying the Ruhr and cursing European public life with her domination. This has cost France more than the war.

The pre-war debt of France was twenty-five billion francs. For subsequent years the debt was:

1919	144.8 billion francs

FIFTY YEARS ON ONE JOB

John Wallace, 71 years old, of Providence, R. I., has worked nearly fifty years on one job in one place. It has been as a watchman or general handy employe around the now almost desolate plant of the Allen Print Works. He has walked, he estimated 300,000 miles as a part of his job. In that time he has taken only one day. He went to Newport, R. I., the summer home of rich society.

KIRK SENDS US GERMAN'S VIEWS

F. Thyssen, Ruhr Magnate, Quoted on Reparations Problem as He Sees It

By W. B. KIRK
Special to The Evening News

PARIS, March 7.—Fritz Thyssen, Ruhr manufacturing magnate, recently granted an interview to M. Fernand Brinon, for the Journal des Debats, in which he warns the United States to seek an escape from a possible fall like that of the Roman Empire which gathered up the world's wealth and was finally forced to sell gold at a low price because the markets, all commerce and trade, had been ruined.

This German financier claims that he cannot get credits and loans from American banks although they are gorged with riches. He says the Reich cannot re-establish industry and its finances until the reparations have been revised, and the total reduced to a payable sum.

"It is not reasonable to make individuals," the German magnate continued, "pay the debts of state. The accords signed at Dusseldorff cannot last. If the French persist in demanding deliveries from German industry a means must be discovered to make the settlement. But no one knows who governs here in his district now.

All Ignore Realities

"France governs, Belgium governs, Berlin governs and everybody gives orders. I see no favorable issue in the present policy. It ignores the industrial realities which govern the world today.

"Military force does not possess its former power. We see America without a military pact, and playing, with it all, a great role politically, because she has the economic force. Victorious France has military force but her money is depreciating.

"It is not just that America should insist that the Allies pay the war debts and at the same time it prevents the entrance of merchandise the Allies wish to sell to the United States, by a tariff wall.

"Policy Must Change"

"Our people must work as they never did before to liberate themselves. But, still, a republican government signed the Treaty of Versailles. The young and feeble government wished to please the people and dared not tell them they must make such sacrifices of hard work. We must solve the reparations but your policy (French) must change.

"Europe is declining," the German capitalist concluded. "While we quarrel, the United States is becoming more strong. Mr. Henry Ford is making more money than the reparations total.

"The United States produces forty million tons of steel every year, and if she dumps five per cent into Europe, our market will be wrecked. Unless the governments of Europe realize and understand the entangled quarrels at an early period, we run the risk of falling into slavery."

Grand Palais Has Exclusive Show By Women Artists

Men Carefully Avoided All Views of Feminine's Choice Collection

By ALICE LANGELIER
For International News Service

PARIS, March 7.—Art by women only took up a large corner of the Grand Palais at the recent exposition. The ladies gave an interesting little art show composed entirely of the works of women.

The Dowager Duchesse d'Uzes was responsible for isolating the works of the artist-women, many of them young students, who sent in a quantity of flower studies and portraits. Madame Lavrut exposed a lovely study of the "Tricorne." It was of Mme X ——, as a Venetienne, in former days. Mlle. Flor-David had a good study of a speaking face and a Welsh artist; Mme. Josey Pillon, a group of pastel portraits, both men and women. There were miniatures and photographs in colors, a few works of sculpture worth noticing, and one thousand and one other "little nothings" which showed very plainly they came from the charming hand of a woman.

In the center, under the rotunda, was a large circle of comfortable armchairs, where a bevy of women, with their friends and families, could sit down to rest and gossip from time to time. Men were in the significant minority. Were they jealous or uninterested? Or was it the numerous "No Smoking" signs which kept them away from the women's salon?

BULGAR NEARLY BURIED ALIVE IS PEEVED OVER IT

Aged Sofia Resident Carted To Grave; Postponing Funeral Saves Him

By CONSTANTINE STEPHANOVE
For International News Service

SOFIA, March 7.—Uncle Stoimen, of Custendil, is peeved.

He doesn't think his folks treated him right. In his opinion, they had no right to try to bury him before he was dead.

Uncle Stoiman is one of the patriarchs of Custendil, having dwelt in that small city, which was built by Constantine the Great, all of his 78 years. He always was considered one of the tough old chaps who seemed certain to live to be 100.

Recently, however, Uncle Stoimen complained that he did not feel very well and took to his bed. He dropped off to sleep, and failed to awake. A doctor looked him over and told the family that their worthy uncle had passed to his reward.

Great preparations were made for Uncle Stoimen's funeral, for he is one of Custendil's favorite old men. He was bathed, dressed in his best clothes, and the medals which he won in the Russo-Turkish war of 1876 were pinned to his breast.

Funeral Held

A long line of sorrowing relatives and fellow-townsmen followed Uncle Stoimen's coffin toward the cemetery, where a newly dug grave had been prepared for his last long sleep. Custendil was all prepared to bury the partriarch, but the elements intervened. A heavy snowstorm came on and soon filled to the brim the grave intended for Uncle Stoimen's interment. The officiating priest decided to postpone burial to the next day, and Uncle Stoimen was carried back to the church.

During the night, however, Uncle Stoimen apparently changed his mind about dying, and in the ghostly hours of early morning he roused himself, knocked the lid off his coffin and began yelling for help. The only help in the vicinity was the sexton, who responded to the cries. When he saw Uncle Stoimen struggling to get out of the coffin, the sexton promptly keeled over, and there

NATIONWIDE in the scope of its service, the Bell System is nationwide also in the distribution of its securities.

In street car, at church, at theatre, at grocery store counter you rub elbows with its owners.

They differ as widely in occupation and in wealth as do the more than 14,000,000 subscribers served by the system. But as Bell subscribers are united by a common means of inter-communication, so Bell owners are united by a common characteristic—thrift.

Other forms of thrift have very properly attracted the savings of thousands of Americans, but none of them more truly illustrates an investment democracy and none more directly serves the public.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Children of San Francisco are playing with living kites.

With strings attached to seagulls boys and girls here are daily amusing themselves in the thrilling sport along the beaches.

Attaching pieces of bread or meat to tiny sticks or wood less than an inch in length to balls of string, the children send out their "bait" which catches their kites. Flying swiftly, the gulls suddenly dart down to the sea's surface and swerve away on lifted wings only to find themselves trapped.

The birds are generally kept prisoners on the strings for five or more minutes before they succeed in dislodging from their throats the bits of wooden bait. They appear to suffer no injuries and enjoy the "sport" as the same gulls are caught again and again.

Antics of the seagulls in releasing themselves from the children's "kite" strings furnish plenty of amusement for beach visitors. The birds twist and roll their necks in the most fantastic fashion until they are free to take wing in the search for better feeding grounds.

Increase of catch by Pacific coast fishermen averaging 25 per cent owing to the use of seaplanes has been announced here in a report made public by Charles G. Poole, chief of the California division of the United States Biological Survey.

"The increase of production of fisheries along the coast of San Diego since the planes have been used is sufficient proof of the effectiveness of this completely modern method of fishing," says the report. "Last year approximately 10,000 tons of fish were landed without the use of aircraft. This year there will be an increase of at least 25 per cent.

In explaining the method adopted in using the seaplanes the report says:

"A seaplane moving 3,000 feet above the sea level, following the coast line about eight or ten miles out from the shore can locate schools of fish at times when the fish are not running normally in their usual seasons. An observer in the seaplane, when he tracks such a school of fish, peers through the floorless bottom of the cockpit. Spying the school he reaches over to a switch and a radio message crackles into the air; the plane swings into an elliptical course, two miles north and south and a half mile wide.

"At North Island, one of the Federal stations on the coast of California, a wireless observer who receives the message sent by the observer in the seaplane speaks clearly and distinctly into a telephone:

"'Sardines, two by a half; one mile south-southwest Coronado Islands.'

"A minute later a shrill whistle on the San Diego waterfront cuts the air. Motor fishing boats put out to sea. The seaplane drops almost to the surface and leads the fleet toward its goal. At a signal from the leaders nets are cast overboard and the heavy catch is hauled in. The seaplane rises and joins the flotilla, having fulfilled its purpose."

Do fish know enough to come home to roost, a la chickens?

That is the question which is to be determined by the California Fish and Game commission.

According to the best authorities it is a known fact that artificially propagated king salmon will return from the sea when mature, entering and migrating up the river in which they were reared during the fluvial period of their life.

But it is not known whether these returning fish will always seek out and enter the particular tributary in which they were reared, nor is it known, the authorities state, how such fish will act if, after having been reared in the water of one tributary, they are introduced into that of another just previous to their seaward migration.

Klamath river in Siskiyou county has been selected as the place of operation to delve into the life history of the salmon. Yearling salmon have been marked and placed into tributaries of the river at certain points. Traps have been placed so that individual examination of migrating fish may be made, determining if the "home loving spirit" is known to the king salmon.

Salmon from other points have also been marked and this will determine beyond a dispute, the authorities state, if the grown fish return to their native waters for reproducton.

Dinner Stories

One of the stories John B. Gough was fond of telling concerned a laird and his servant Sandy. The two were on their way home on horseback late at night, and both were much muddled by drink. At a ford where the bank was steep, the laird fell head first into the creek. He scrambled up, and shouted:

"Haud on, Sandy! Something fell off—I heard it splash!"

Sandy climbed down from the saddle, and waded about blindly in the shallow water, with groping hands. At last, he seized on the laird.

"Why, it's yerself, mon, as fell oof!"

"No, Sandy," the master declared stoutly. "It can't be me—here I am." Then he added. "But if it is me, get me back on the horse."

Sandy helped the laird to the horse, and boosted him up astride. In the dark, the rider was faced the wrong way.

"Gie me the reins," the master ordered.

Sandy felt about the horse's rump, and then cried out, clutching the tail:

"It waur the horse's head as fell off—nothing left but the mane!"

"Gie me the mane, then," the laird directed. "I must een hae something to hold on."

So, presently, when he had the tail firmly grasped in both hands, and Sandy had mounted, they began to move. Whereat, the laird shouted in dismay:

"Haud on, Sandy! It's gaein' the wrong way!"

Hidden away between two rocky hills in the oil fields of central west Texas there used to be a wayside eating house which served the truck drivers who carried freight to the oil field camps. An elderly native of the neighborhood spent most of his time on the front steps of this pine board establishment, whittling, chewing tobacco and scrutinizing each truck driver, truck and its contents.

One truck particularly interested and puzzled him. It was always loaded with large steel barrels. One day as the driver hurried to his meal the old man plucked his sleeve and asked:

"What you got in them barrels, mister?"

"Notroglycerine."

"Nitroglycerine! Good Lord, that's explosive, ain't it?"

"Yep."

"Dangerous, ain't it?"

"Yep."

"Ever have any explosions?"

"Nope. Never expect to have but one."

Blinks, after inviting his friend, Jinks, who has just returned from abroad, to dinner, is telling him what a fine memory his little son Bobby has.

"And do you suppose he will remember me?" said Jinks.

"Remember you? Why, he remembers every face that he ever saw."

An hour later they entered the house and, after Jinks had shaken hands with Mrs. Blinks, he calls Bobby over to him.

"And do you remember me, my little man?"

"Course I do. You're the same man that pa brought home last summer, and ma was so wild about it that she didn't speak to pa for a whole week."

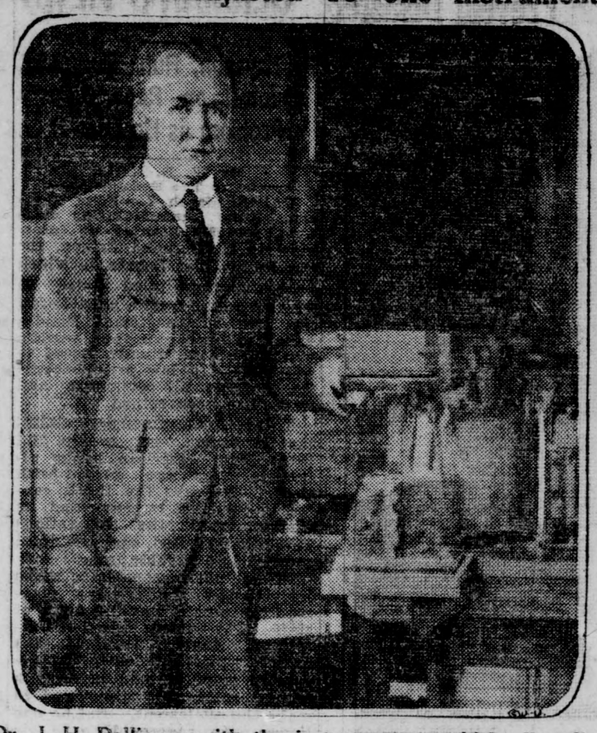
FIX STANDARD OF WAVE LENGTHS

All Stations Adjusted To One Instrument



Dr. J. H. Dellinger with the instrument to which all radio stations in the United States are adjusted

One instrument in the Bureau of Standards in Washington sets the basic standard of radio frequency or wave length in the United States. To it all radio stations are adjusted. The device is the especial pet of Dr. J. H. Dellinger, who carefully guards it to prevent the slightest deviation.

YALE PRESIDENT DISCUSSES MAIN EDUCATIONAL NEEDS OF COUNTRY

Discussing "American Education Today," Dr. James R. Angell, president of Yale, stated recently that the three great educational questions to be solved are proper schools for the rural district, elementary education for the children of the large cities, and the need for the proper kind of teachers.

DR. ANGELL

"We are in the midst of the most unparalleled educational development the world has ever seen," said Dr. Angell. "Education is one of the foundation stones upon which our nation rests. The war deepened our interest in education. That is one of the few good things that came from the conflict.

"One of the most interesting things is the extraordinary development of the public high schools. They have multiplied considerably more than 700 per cent in the last three decades. There are now more than 2,000,000 pupils in high schools, as against 700,000 thirty years ago.

"There are from 600,000 to 700,000 students in the colleges, and the number is rapidly increasing. In a state like Iowa the number of students is increasing in leaps and bounds, while the population has not increased at any such rate. The increase may go on until every boy and girl in that state will receive the education that the institutions can give. That is a condition we hope will be arrived at everywhere."

"Palestine of today, it is true, is a small place, but once built on the right foundation, will become one of the most enterprising countries of the world," so says Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, now telling American audiences of the progress in the Jewish homeland.

"Today we find living in Palestine about 100,000 Jews, eating little and working hard. Possibly those who have gone to Palestine might have been sitting in the building today enjoying the same comforts and privileges you are. But they have chosen another road because they have been urged by something which moves people to abandon material comforts. They are creating a home, a government, a tradition. They are making almost unendurable physical sacrifices for the perpetuation of Jerusalem, and something even higher, for the glorification of God.

"If you went to Palestine today you would find elementary, technical high schools and gymnasiums, all equipped with teachers and pupils. You would find that money for these schools is being contributed by Jews from all over the world.

"You would find certain hospitals being carried on for the benefit of the people in Palestine, and you would ask what is the medical service. It is the Jewish service, paid for by the Zionist organizations. You might be taken to see the Agricultural college. That is due to the munificence of the Jewry of France, who established it there many years ago.

"I could show you large tracts of cultivated land where formerly nothing could be grown. I could show you a robust and healthy population.

"But if you take Jewish agriculture away from Palestine you will find the country many centuries backward. These works have been carried out by the Jews under great difficulties. Since the British administration has taken charge of Palestine progress has been at a speed more like that of western cities. And yet it is asked, 'Is it worth while to build up the country?'

"It is worth while," Dr. Weizmann added, "not merely in the interests of the Jewish race, but in the interests of all humanity."

Here are some of the things Zionism has achieved, according to Dr. Weizmann:

Modern suburbs and garden cities, extensive stretches of land, acquired as the property of the Jewish people as a whole; immigration regulated and encouraged; sanitation; an extensive educational system; a national Hebrew language; the foundation for Jewish self-government.

In connection with self-government, Dr. Weizmann declared the Jews have no dream of setting up an autocratic government. Their aim, he said, is to become part of the government of Palestine, not the government. He pointed out there are many other races and creeds represented by the residents of the country, who, according to plans, are to have an equal voice.

"A great danger lies with the Arabs," Dr. Weizmann said, "It is not, however, so great as is generally supposed. There will be no danger if we conduct our work in the homeland in such a way that no harm shall come to the Arabs. Many of the Jews of today say they have been treated unjustly, and when we have been given the fairest chance to begin to build our own country we cannot begin by striking at someone else. We must not encroach upon the rights of the Arabs. If we do we shall suffer.

"Palestine is going to be built up. It is going to be difficult, but if it were easy it would not be worth while. The whole problem lies within the lives of the Jewish people."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FROZEN CARROT

"Did you hear the news?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy of Uncle Wiggily in the hollow stump bungalow one day.

"New? What news?" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman, with a jolly twinkle of his pink nose. "Has spring come?"

"Hardly yet," laughed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "But I mean did you hear that Mr. Littletail was ill?"

"No, I didn't hear that," answered the bunny gentleman. "So the father of Sammie and Susie Littletail is ill? I am sorry to hear that. What does Dr. Possum say?"

"He says that Mr. Littletail must stay in his burrow house for a week, until he gets better," answered Nurse Jane. "You might hop over and see him, Uncle Wiggily."

"Just what I was going to say!" cried the bunny. "And I think I'll take him one of our fine big carrots. I am sure he has no such carrots as we have in our vegetable cellar."

"Perhaps not," agreed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Do take Mr. Littletail a carrot, Uncle Wiggily."

The rabbit gentleman with the pink, twinkling nose, hopped down the cellar steps. At the beginning of winter he and Nurse Jane had stored away many cabbages, turnips and carrots. The carrots were yellow, like gold. They had sharp points like a spear.

Picking out the largest and finest carrot he could find, Uncle Wiggily hopped up the steps with it. Soon he was dressed to go out in the cold. He would hop over the fields and through the woods to the burrow, or underground house, where Mr. Littletail lived with Sammie and Susie.

"You had better put your ear muffs on today," said Nurse Jane, when Mr. Longears was ready to start out with the carrot.

"Why?" asked the bunny.

"Because it is freezing cold and your ears are so thin and long, almost like carrots, in fact, that they will freeze unless they are warmly wrapped."

So, as Uncle Wiggily didn't want his ears to freeze, he put his muffs on them. The muffs were made of soft, fleecy wool from the backs of Dottie and Willie Flufftail, the lambs.

Then taking the big sharp-pointed carrot under his paw, out hopped Uncle Wiggily to go and see Mr. Littletail.

"I will cheer him up by telling him how soon he is going to get well," thought Mr. Longears, "and I will give him this carrot to nibble. It will last him nearly a week."

Well, Uncle Wiggily was hopping along, wondering if he would have an adventure, when, all of a sudden, he bumped into Aunt Lettie, the lady goat. She was just ahead of him and before he could stop himself, Uncle Wiggily had jabbed the point of the carrot into the back of the goat lady.

"Ouchie!" bleated Aunt Lettie.

"What's the matter?" Uncle Wiggily asked.

"The point of that carrot you are carrying stuck in my back," said Aunt Lettie.

"I beg your pardon," spoke the rabbit uncle. "I suppose I did jab you with the carrot. But the point is so soft I don't see how it could hurt you."

"Hi! Hi! If you think that carrot point is soft, just feel of it!" bleated Aunt Lettie. "It's as hard as stone and as sharp as an ice pick. Just feel it!"

Uncle Wiggily did so, and as soon as he touched the carrot he cried out:

"Why, it's frozen! It's frozen stiff, like an icicle! No wonder it hurt you, Aunt Lettie. I'm sorry my carrot is frozen. I must hurry on to Mr. Littletail's before it gets any colder."

Bowing low and politely to Aunt Lettie, Uncle Wiggily hopped on. He was almost at the home of his rabbit friend when, all of a sudden, out from behind the mulberry bush hopped the Bob Cat.

"Kindly take those muffs off your ears!" howled the Bob Cat. "I want to nibble them!"

"Do you mean you want to nibble my ears or the muffs?" asked the rabbit.

"Your ears, of course! I'm going to nibble your ears!" snarled the bad chap.

"Before you do that I'm going to jab you with this carrot!" cried the brave rabbit.

"Pooh! I'm not afraid of a soft, wobbily carrot!" answered the Bob Cat.

"This carrot isn't soft nor yet wobbily," said Uncle Wiggily. "It is frozen hard and stiff, and it's like a spear! Zip! Here I come!"

With that he jabbed the Bob Cat as hard as he could in the soft and tender ribs with the hard pointed frozen carrot.

"Oh, zoopie! zoopie!" howled the bad chap, and away he ran, taking his silly little tail with him.

"I'm going to nibble your ears!" snarled the bad chap.

Then Uncle Wiggily, smiling and happy, hopped on to Mr. Littletail's burrow. Mrs. Littletail thawed out the frozen carrot and her husband nibbled it and soon he was well again.

And if the snow shovel doesn't call the kitchen stove out to play tag and make it catch cold in the legs, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's little house.

There will be a "Bee" of some of the men of St. Mark's Episcopal church on the grounds of the church, corner of Fifth and Louise streets, tomorrow, for the purpose of preparing the ground for a lawn and other cultivated growth.

Daniel Carney of Los Angeles, a brother of Dave Carney of Glendale, purchased one-third of an acre of P. A. C. Moore on Fifth street, which he will improve for a home.

Two of the houses that were wrecked by tumbling into the wash during the recent storm are being moved onto a lot near the corner of Columbus and Fifth street.

The grape is believed the oldest of cultivated fruits.

CONFESSIONS OF A BABY

Flashback, No. III

Last week, among other things, I told you about our heads when we are first born—how they may be considerably misshapen and still be all right within a few weeks. I told you the importance of not having us lie on our backs all the time, because that will flatten the head in the back. We must lie on our sides and sometimes on our tummies.

Today I am going to tell you about our backs when we are first born. First I will tell you a little about the normal grown-up spines. Instead of one gentle outward curve as we have, there are two main curves—one in the neck region, called the cervical curve; and one down in what you call the small of the back, called the lumbar curve.

Now those curves are normal and come from the use of the muscles of the back. So you see we babies do not begin to develop them until we begin to use the muscles of our backs. We begin to do that when we begin to lift our heads. When we are from three to four months old we usually hold our heads erect. So every time you see us lift our heads you will know that we are doing good work; we are developing our spines as they should be.

The lumbar curve, the one down in the small of the back, we do not begin to develop until we begin to walk.

Now these normal curves that I'm talking about mustn't be confused with bad or abnormal curves such as you mean when you speak of curvature of the spine. We may get these abnormal curves later from certain diseases, from bad habits of sitting, and other things which doctor will tell you about some other time. I just wanted you to know that you must not expect our spines to look like grown-ups' or children's spines. At about six to seven months our spines are strong enough so we can sit erect with our backs unsupported.

Now I am going to tell you something about our eyes. Do you know that nearly all of us are born with blue eyes Of course, some of us keep our blue eyes. I did; I have the most wonderful, heavenly blue eyes you ever saw (according to the reports I get). The reason that even the brown, black and hazel-eyed babies are usually born with blue eyes is because the final coloring matter or pigment is not deposited until two or three weeks after we are born.

It is probable that we cannot see at first, although we seem to be able to distinguish between light and dark. However, if you put up your finger in front of our eyes, we won't wink or give any evidence that we can see it. But don't forget, mammas, that our eyes are very sensitive to light; it really hurts them. That is why we should be kept in a semi-dark room for two or three weeks after birth, and our eyes should always be protected, so the light does not shine directly into them.

Probably we do not recognize objects until we are six or eight weeks old, and we cannot definitely focus our attention until about the age of three months. Then we begin to recognize those whom we see the most, such as our mammas or our nurses.

We often look a little cross-eyed at first because we cannot control the muscles of our eyes, but that disappears when we get a little older and have control. I have told you about that before, remember? Another thing about our eyes is that we don't shed tears until we are about three months old. We cry though before that—you know it!

Now about our hearing. We are not only born practically blind, but we are deaf, too. Did you know that, mamma? It is thought that we are deaf because of the mucus in the ear canal. That quickly disappears and, believe me, our hearing is then abnormally acute. When we are about two months of age, we can recognize where the sounds come from.

I told you that when we are about three months old, we begin to recognize our parents by sight and we also begin to recognize their voices about the same time. It's awfully nice when we can do this.

Au revor, mamma dear.

JOHN TO WRITE POEMS OF PEGGY

Friends Wondering How Long It Will Last

Peggy Wood

NEW YORK, March 7.—Love is just one song and poem after another, it seems.

Peggy Wood and John V. A. Weaver ought to be happy in marriage.

It took them a long time to decide to march up to the altar and have it over with.

Peggy is one of the best known musical comedy prima donnas. She lately has been touring the country in "The Clinging Vine," with John in the audience in many of the cities. J. V. A. is a poet of renown, being especially noted for his lyrics in the "American Language." He is also a critical writer on literature for various publications.

Their romance hung fire for many months. Postponements of the nuptials and rumors of quarrels led friends to believe that it was all over.

The other day Peggy sailed from New York for a tour of the West Indies. Johnny followed shortly thereafter. They were married in the solemn old cathedral in Hamilton, Bermuda, and only a few persons down there knew about it. Then the marriage was announced by a close friend of the couple.

Now their friends are wondering if the romance of Peggy and John can survive the clash that always seems to follow the marriage of two artistic temperaments.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

HAIR TONICS

The hair always needs a tonic in the spring, no matter how healthy it is. The warm weather always makes some fall out, a process as natural as for animals to shed some of their fur, though somewhat alarming if one has rather thin hair. But in the spring and in the autumn special attention should be paid to the scalp.

I repeated the formula for the Pilocarpine hair tonic the other day. This is for definite trouble. The ordinarily healthy scalp may not require as elaborate a tonic as this. But in the spring, no matter how healthy it is, the hair should be given some extra care. The scalp should be rubbed thoroughly with oil the day before a shampoo; often this is enough to prevent an attack of dandruff, or enough, if dandruff has already started, to cure it. The hair should be singed or clipped also, in fact, two or three inches can be taken off it with profit. And for two or three weeks the scalp should be massaged thoroughly with the fingertips every day.

The general physical condition affects the hair far more than people realize. Most of us are somewhat run down during the spring until our systems are accustomed to the changed climate. This affects the hair. Taking hypophosphate of soda for one's general health is splendid for the hair, especially if there is any alopecia. There is a very ordinary springtime tonic prescribed mostly for anemic people.

Electric treatments are so good for the scalp that one or two taken at this time of the year will continue to benefit the hair for months to come; in fact, one or two taken now at the change of seasons will be quite as valuable as a course of six or seven when hot weather has set in. Simple tonics made with cantharides, quinine, jaborandi and such things are useful to rub upon the scalp at this time of the year.

P. E. K.—You cannot remedy the brittleness caused by using peroxide on your hair. It is best to have the bleaching done at a good beauty parlor the first time; after that repeat the process yourself as the natural color grows out with the new hair.

Twenty-Three—At your age, with height of 5 feet 3 inches, the weight should be from 115 to 120 pounds.

Victoria—Your red nose probably comes from the same cause as your oily skin and oily scalp, poor elimination. Drink at least six glasses of water every day and eat less of sweets and other rich foods. If you do this I am sure you will see an improvement in a few weeks.

Tomorrow—Yeast and Beauty

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

HER SISTER

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 19 years old and for the last year and a half have lived in the home of my sister. On the death of my mother I was left without a home, and so came here to live with my sister and work in her husband's office.

At first everything went all right, but later I felt her husband's attitude toward me was not just right. At home he didn't show a thing, but in the office I was uneasy because he was too nice. Just a short time ago he drove me home from work a round-about way and while we were riding told me that he had loved me for some time. He said he was simply crazy about me and felt he could no longer stand living without me. He suggested that we go away together.

You will probably think he is a downright bad man, but he really isn't. He has always been very good to my sister and is yet. I must confess that I love him, too, but I would not dream of going away with him. I realize it would not make either of us happy.

"I don't know what to do. If I suggest going away my sister will flatly refuse to let me, and she doesn't understand the situation. I can't remain where I am because it would be too hard for my brother-in-law.

Please advise me what to do.

GERTRUDE T.

There is only one thing for you to do, and that is to go away. If your former home town is a place of any size, I would advise you to return, secure a position and board somewhere. Such a life would not hold the promise of happiness that a home with your sister offers, but you can no longer honorably remain where you are. You might prefer to watch the advertisements for office help in the newspapers from other cities, and then by correspondence secure work elsewhere. Neither plan looks very bright, but you will always be thankful if you do the fair thing for your sister.

BABY PEGGY: Moles are sometimes becoming; it all depends on the location. O mole is sometimes a beauty mark.

First descriptive ballet in England was played in Drury Lane in 1702.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Miss Ethel M. Smith, legislative secretary of the National Women's Trade Union League of America, opposes the proposed "equal rights bill" sponsored by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and Miss Alice Paul, president and vice-president respectively of the National Women's party. She contends that the measure, were it passed, would mean sacrificing ethical, social and economic protection for the questionable privilege of legal equality.

"We are at the beginning of a sharp and lasting conflict between an extremist group of feminists on one hand and the great mass of the woman movement, together with the entire labor movement, on the other," Miss Smith says. "The constitutional amendment which is in controversy would provide that men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction.

"The opposition to the proposed amendment is based upon legal opinions to the effect that the terms of the measure, undefined as they are and must be in a constitutional provision, would throw into the courts and probably invalidate laws giving rights to women which women need, irrespective of whether these same rights obtain for men or not. The amendment would destroy, without replacing. And in so far as it did not destroy it would be unnecessary, because everything it demands must now, and would likewise under the amendment, be a matter of separate, specific legislation, by state legislatures or congress.

"Why, then, take the risk of destroying, for example, the laws limiting the hours of labor for women factory workers? Or the laws establishing commissions to fix the minimum living wage for women? Or, for that matter, why destroy (until you have a better substitute ready) the laws requiring husbands to support their wives and families? Or laws providing mothers' or widows' pensions? Or laws protecting maternity? Or laws fixing an age of consent for girls?

"Grant that any, or all, those laws need amending. Is it constructive, or is it even sensible, to attain equality by the negative process of taking away what one sex has gained, merely because the other sex has it not? Would it have been sensible to achieve equal suffrage by taking the vote away from men?"

This is the season of the year when the jam and jelly supply begins to run low. Yet the woman who can make delicious orange marmalade need not dread the disappearance of the last jar. Here is "just how:"

Wash and weigh six large oranges. They should weigh about three pounds. Set these aside. Now weigh out two and one-fourth pounds of sugar (if you have no scales measure out one and one-quarter quarts of the sugar).

The next step is to cut the oranges. Slit the peel into quarter sections (not cutting into the orange pulp) and pull it off with the fingers. Put these peel-quarters into a preserving kettle with one quart of boiling water and let simmer for 30 minutes, when it will be soft and pliable and may be pierced with a blunt-pointed fork. Drain water from peel and cool peel slightly. In the meantime rinse out the preserving kettle and put into it small pieces of the peelless oranges, removing seeds and throwing them away; also throw away the tough fibres between the pulp sections. Now take the cooked peal and scrape from it, into the preserving kettle, the soft white part under the yellow rind (this white part of the skin contains the pectin which makes the marmalade thicken, so lose none of it).

The next thing is to decide whether you wish a bitter marmalade, or not. If you like bitter marmalade, then add all the yellow part of the orange rind into small, thin slices; if you do not like bitter marmalade add only a little of this yellow part of peel—say, the peel of only two oranges.

The kettle with these ingredients—that is, with the orange pulp, the scraped white part from under side of peel, and at least some of the yellow part of peel shaved fine—is now put over the fire. When it reaches the boiling point, add the one and one-fourth quarts of sugar which you previously measured out. Then let the mass simmer for two hours, stirring often to prevent its catching on the bottom. At the end of two hours it should form two drops on the edge of the spoon when a little is held high with one quart of boiling water in the air in a spoon and dripped back into the kettle (the jelly test"). This stage indicates that the liquid portion of the marmalade will congeal so as to form a solid mass, with the more solid parts, when turned out into glasses. Put into the glasses at once. This recipe will fill six jelly glasses. Have glasses hot when filled with the hot mixture.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Don't let constipation make you an invalid —relieve it with Kellogg's Bran

Few people realize how dangerous is constipation until this dread disease tears down their health. Did you know that more than forty serious diseases can be traced to constipation?

Keep your health, or restore it, with Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. It brings relief in mild and chronic cases of constipation. It is effective because it is ALL bran. That is why it is recommended so highly by doctors. They know that only ALL bran can bring 100 per cent results. Part bran is, at best, only a halfway measure.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran will bring permanent relief—even in the most chronic case. It is guaranteed to do so. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Because it is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. Like nature, it acts naturally. It makes the intestine function regularly.

Eat it every day—two tablespoonfuls—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Enjoy it in those wonderful recipes given on every package.

The flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is delicious. It is crisp, nut-like. Quite different from ordinary brans, which are so unpalatable. Kellogg's Bran is made in Battle Creek and served by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Sold by all grocers.

Bulgar Nearly Buried Alive Gets Peeved

was no shamming with him—he was dead, without question.

Uncle Runs Home

Uncle Stoimen escaped from the chapel and dashed through the streets to his home. Townsmen, who had risen early so they could get their work done in time to be present at his burial, were dumfounded. When their "dead" uncle burst into the Stoimen family circle as they were partaking of a sorrowful breakfast, a first-class panic ensued. Uncle Stoimen's wife fainted.

Uncle Stoimen made known his displeasure in unmistakable language. He had not been dead, and he called it downright cruel of his folks to cart him off to the church and leave him there in a long wooden box that he had had a deuce of a time getting out of. He inquired, in his best Bulgarian, what the idea was.

To square themselves and to convince Uncle Stoimen that they were glad the dead was alive again, the family prepared a great feast, inviting all of the old man's friends to participate. Among the foremost of the feasters was the doctor who had pronounced him dead.

Uncle Stoimen is convinced now that his family had no intention of playing any mean tricks on him, but he has vigorously warned them not to let it happen again.

Teachers Cut Locks

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, March 7.—The teachers here have joined the bobbed-hair delegates. They will feel quite at home in the Orange county ranks, which are shearing their locks with amazing rapidity. Only two athletic coaches in the high school system still comb out long tresses, Miss Edith B. Alton of Garden Grove and Miss Stella Yokum of Tustin.

Share Water Expenses

ORANGE, March 7.—This county is ready to bear its share of the expense involved in increasing water conservation for the three counties bordering on the Santa Ana river and its tributaries. So declare a committee of conservationists who are preparing to seek support for the movement from Riverside and San Bernardino counties. The committee comprises A. N. Stanley, secretary-manager of the farm bureau; J. A. Smiley of West Orange, John Dunstan of Tustin, W. I. Hollingsworth of Anaheim and Dr. J. B. Thomas of Olive, president of Associated Chamber of Commerce.

Animals Protected

SANTA BARBARA, March 7.—Two skunks figured in the animals protected during February by the Humane society, according to the monthly report filed with the Board of Supervisors. The number of cases investigated and handled was 243, subdivided as follows: dogs, 94, cats 44, horses, mules and burros 65, cows, steers, bulls and calves 3, poultry 5, song and show birds 24, goats 4, skunks 2, and monkeys 2.

Profits on Peppers

SANTA ANA, March 7.—Chili peppers will heavily reward Orange county farmers who specialize on them this year, according to J. A. Knapp, a Garden Grove grower. He is a member of the committee that recently made an exhaustive survey of the industry for the purpose of presenting the facts to California's representatives in Congress. He declares the county will plant during 1924 approximately 1000 acres of long red chilis.

"The planting of this type of chili will probably produce about 3000 tons of green pods, selling at $30 per ton," Knapp says, "and about 600 tons of the dried product selling at an average of $350 per ton, with an estimated value of $300,000.

Golf at High School

ANAHEIM, March 7. — High school boys here will hammer over the local links "the little white pill that millionaires take for their health," one of the few high school golf clubs in the United States having been organized here, with Donald Sandilands as president. A rule of the club is that each member must tour the course once a week. Ability to play the game will be one of the tests of membership.

To Vote on Bonds

PASADENA, March 7.—An aggregate of $2,996,000 in elementary and high school bond issues will be decided by the public at the polls on March 28. Of this total, the sum of $1,899,000 would be devoted to Pasadena elementary schools, to be derived as follows: From the sale of junior high school buildings to the high school district, $1,024,000; from an elementary bond issue, $875,000.

The high school bond issue proposed is $2,119,000, of which amount $1,024,000 would be paid to the elementary schools for the existing junior high school plants. The remainder, $1,095,000 would be used for high school buildings and the Junior college.

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists call it "Joint-Ease" because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, aching muscles, stitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds' rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin, it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

All druggists dispense it daily for about 60 cents a tube, as do first class druggists everywhere. —Advertisement.

FIRST LECTURE IN SERIES FOR GLENDALE P.-T. A.

Dr. Helen B. Thompson Gives Opening Talk on Topic 'Nutrition, Growth'

Another laurel has been brought home to Glendale by the Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations, which is sponsoring a series of education lectures being given on Friday mornings during the coming six weeks.

The first lecture was given this morning in the auditorium at 323 North Brand boulevard, by Dr. Helen B. Thompson, professor of home economics at the Southern Branch of the University of California.

Pleases Audience

A splendid audience greeted Dr. Thompson, representative of every Parent-Teacher Association in Glendale and the neighboring communities. The Glendale women have long anticipated such a course of lectures, and are today rejoicing that they are able to bring to Glendale a group of trained educators sent out by the extension department of the state university.

Dr. Thompson, who was a student under Dr. Mensel of Yale and a specialist in nutrition, spoke on "Natrition and Growth." Her talk was crowded full of facts and suggestions to mothers of all ages. In closing she presented the following bibliography from which additional information can be secured:

Additional Data

"Chemistry of Food and Nutrition" (Sherman) (MacMillan); "Nutrition and Growth in Children" (Emerson) (Appleton); "Feeding the Family" (Rose) (MacMillan); "Nutrition and Chemistry of Life" (Mendel) (MacMillan); "Newer Knowledge of Nutrition" (McCollum) (MacMillan); "Metabolism and Growth from Birth to Puberty" (Benedict and Talbot) (Publication No. 302, Carnegie Institute of Washington); "Food Allowances for Healthy Children" (Gillett) (Pub. 115, Bureau Food Supply, New York, Association for Improving Conditions of the Poor); Research Bulletin No. 49, University of Wisconsin, agricul-

ORCHESTRA TO HAVE PLACE IN EASTER SERVICE

Talented Glendale Musicians Are Now Rehearsing for Sunrise Ceremony

When Glendalians gather at sunrise Easter morning on the top of Mt. Forest Lawn in Forest Lawn Memorial park their singing will be accompanied by the Community Service orchestra, which is now rehearsing under the direction of J. Arthur Myers, also leader of the Choral club.

Some of the most talented Glendale musicians have signified their interest in the orchestra, which met early this week and worked on "Henry VIII Cances" (German) and the ballet "Sylvia" (Delibes).

Prominent Muscians

Among the musicians interested in the orchestra are Julius Kranz, Hazel Linkogel, A. Bert Gottlieb, Mrs. Frances E. Payne, Miss Mayme Smith, J. A. Becker, Miss Evangeline Quackenbush, Julia Robinson, Dorothy Watson, Marjorie Bailey, Genevieve Mulligan, D. F. Crawford, Faith Tarling, Mrs. Hartley Shaw, Thomas Wood, Mrs. C. R. Kuntzman, Adolph L. Lowinsky, violinists.

Mrs. Fisher and Fred Bender, players of the viola; Rene Olin, Dr. Widmer, C. H. Walker, Lloyd Knapp, Maurice Caruthers, E. H. Holzer, John G. Miller, cellists; Bert Potter, Harry E. Parker, players of the bass horn; J. F. Johanssen, Mrs. J. R. Lippold, players of French horn; Ivan Dow, C. K. Aston, cornets; I. S. Brown, Frenk Prouty, trombone; Harry Greenwalt, flute; Dr. J. R. Lippold, clarinet; G. N. Hammond, melophone; Mrs. William Hopkins, harp; Francis Riekseeker, bassoon; Roy Biddlecomb, drums; Fred Weaver and W. V. Anderson.

HARD PAVING BLOCKS

A Frenchman claims to have invented a process for melting basalt rock and molding the material into the hardest known paving blocks.

Letters, Christmas Cards In Profusion Await Kirk In Far Off Italian City

In The Glendale Evening News of Monday, March 3, W. B. Kirk's account of being robbed in Milan, Italy, was given. In the same letter containing the account of his misfortune, Mr. Kirk also wrote:

W. B. KIRK

"We bade farewell to Venice and came to Milan through Verona again. Milan is the largest city in Italy, about the size of Los Angeles, and is a flourishing commercial center.

"Stopping at Hotel du Nord, not far from the station, we found it comfortable. The weather was bright, but chilly, big patches of snow still lying all about, so we didn't go to the Cathedral till Tuesday afternoon, when we boarded a tram, which took us right to it.

"It has a fine setting, facing a large open space, which is the center of the city. It is a magnificent building, outside as well as in. The basilica with its double rows of massive, fluted marble pillars, fifty-two in all, elaborately carved at their tops, is most impressive. The arches, which form the ceiling, are painted in white grillwork that looks like lace, which is also the lining of the central dome and is most beautiful.

"The windows extend very high, some of them consisting entirely of figures, others having few or none at all. Every color imaginable seemed to be present, but not inharmoniously. It was begun in 1387 and is one of the largest and greatest cathedrals of the world.

Flood of Home Letters

"The weather was chilly, but clear while we were in Milan, and Saturday noon we took train to Genoa expecting to see its principal sights quickly and move on to Nice. We were expecting a little mail in Genoa but were absolutely unprepared to receive thirty-three letters and Christmas cards. Nearly all of this had been sent to Jerusalem and we had missed it there as I wrote you.

"Genoa is very picturesquely located, its tall buildings rising on the semicircular hills, which surround the bay. Our hotel there, 'The Savoie,' is located opposite the station and faces an open space in the center of which is a life size statue of Columbus mounted on a very high pedestal, which gives a very imposing position.

"You remember that Columbus was born here and the house wherein he was born, or part of it, is preserved, very near the center of the city. Adjoining it are the ruins of an old cloister, the columns of which remain. It is the open air section of a college, where it is supposed Columbus was educated.

"We were compelled to get out in the cold yesterday in order to see anything in the city. A disagreeable wind from the north was blowing too but we all braved it and were well repaid.

Cemetery Is Marvel

"Any one who should come to Genoa for any purpose and should fail to see its marvelous cemetery would miss one of the grandest sights in Europe. We had heard a lot about it but were unperpared for such a magnificent panorama of art. If there is anything like it in the world I have never heard of it.

"Situated on hillsides, it has an appropriate setting. Arcades of statuary surmounting the tombs extend for long distances, all in marble. I had no idea there was so much of it ever produced. I believe there are over 3000 pieces of sculpture by the best artists. The statues are all clothed and the sheen of the satin draperies is something we had never seen. The postures, features and symbols produced could be seen and admired for hours at a time, but the cold compelled us to limit our visit to about an hour and a half.

VOTERS RESPOND TO APPEAL FOR REGISTRATIONS

American Legion Campaign to Educate Citizens Proving Success

Reports from all sections of California indicate to American Legion heads that the citizenship educational campaign being conducted by the organization is materially aiding in bringing in the voters to register for the coming elections.

In all communities where the American Legion has centered its campaign, the registration has shown a healthy increase.

Working under the direction of State Commander James F. Collins, the Legionnaires throughout the state are continuing with their citizenship meetings with marked success.

Clubs Co-operate

As a step in carrying out the American Legion's aim of participating in community service through the individual posts of the organization, the Oakland post of the Legion has raised more than $70,000 for the Community Chest of that city.

The Legionnaires were given the industrial district west of Lake Merritt and under the leadership of Colonel Al Chase have more than gone over the top.

More than 500,000 orphans of World war veterans will receive proper institutional and home care in the definite program of legislation as well as relief which the American Legion has pledged itself to, National Commander John R. Quinn has notified officials of the organization in California.

Care of Orphans

George A. Withers, chairman of the Legion's national committee on child welfare, has written Morgan Keaton, state adjutant for California, emphasizing the need for proper supervision of orphans in the home, where possible, and for that reason, the co-operation of the various states is to be asked to undertake proper legislation looking toward an efficient mother-pension system.

Accordingly, the Legion platform has been outlined by Adjutant Keaton as including mothers' aid, temporary and permanent foster homes, permanent home placement, and residence for necessary periods in institutions.

The Legion already has accepted the sponsorship of two institutional projects for World war orphans. One is now in operation at Otter Lake, Mich., where the organization and its auxiliary first began to care for orphans two years ago.

A second is near Independence, Kan., where a tract of land has been accepted as a gift and endowed through Legion activity. Each of these institutions will be regional in scope and the two will be a nucleus for the Legion program.

"Tex" Kuykendall, delegate to the sixth national convention of the American Legion from Marysville, has announced that he will leave his home city July 4, via horseback, for St. Paul, Minn., where the convention is to be held. The departure of the rider will be made a feature of the American Legion Independence Day celebration in Marysville.

Call Rifle, Revolver Club to Meet Monday

The postponed meeting of the Verdugo Hills Rifle and Revolver club will be held at 8 o'clock Monday night, March 10, at the Sparr Heights Community building, where H. E. Barnum has kindly offered the clubrooms for the use of members of the organization, announces W. E. Palmer, who is the organizer of the club.

More than 2000 names have been secured for membership in the Verdugo Hills Rifle and Revolver club, he states, and it is hoped that the club will develop into one of large size and popularity.

"Members will be furnished with government rifles and ammunition," says Mr. Palmer, "and the Glendale organization will be affiliated with the national body, under government supervision."

That Mule Maude In Vaudeville Offering

Have you seen Maude? The original hee-haw? Still alive, it is said, and a featured dumb actor in Mlle Roberta's comedy animal circus, billed to play the Glendale theatre today and tomorrow. Dog, pony and monkey also perform. Yeoman & Briggs offer quaint country humor in songs and stories. Harry Sykes and company have been here before with their amazing bicycle tricks, and they always thrill.

The two Lews—Lubin & Lewis—in a blackface dialogue, bring some real southern stories with them, while Arline is scheduled to play the violin. There may be a last-minute change in the program. Hoot Gibson is starred in the fims.

NEW MICROPHONE

All the tonal qualities of piano music are said to be broadcast by radio accurately with the use of a recently invented microphone.

LOCAL PIANIST TO APPEAR ON CLUB PROGRAM

Miss Gertrude Cleophas Will Entertain Next Tuesday; Violinist to Play

One of Glendale's own talented musicians is to give part of the entertainment program next Tuesday afternoon at the meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Miss Gertrude Cleophas of 337 North Central avenue, artist pianist, with Max Donner, violinist, will give the program.

Born of Norwegian ancestors, who came to America more than a century ago, she first studied music with her mother. Later she received instruction under Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler in Chicago. Following this she was sent to Vienna, where she was one of the most promising students under Leschetizky.

Debut in Berlin

Her concert career began during this period and after her debut with the Philharmonic orchestra in Berlin under Kernwald, she played with great success in other European cities. Following her return to America, she made Minneapolis her home for several years, conducting a class of artist pupils in addition to her concert work.

Miss Cleophas has deep musical insight and holds her art reverently.

Max Donner, violinist, has re-

DEAN OF GIRLS SAYS COSMETIC PROBLEM GRAVE

Ban on Use of Face Powder Will Result In More Serious Topics

"The use of cosmetics by teachers and pupils is a grave problem only as it is significant of something deeper," this morning declared Mrs. George U. Moyse, vice-principal of the Glendale Union High school and dean of the girls. "I think the feeling of personal liberty is too strong in the American mind to tolerate a ban on cosmetics by school authorities."

Mrs. Moyse's statement follows the declaration of Mrs. Grace Stanley, state superintendent of elementary education, in reply to a protest by California teachers on the banning of cosmetics by a certain board of education.

"Banning the use of cosmetics by teachers or even their pupils creates a far more serious problem than the use of them," said Mrs. Stanley. "I believe there are in all school systems problems of much more importance than the use of cosmetics."

Individual Problem

"I would personally far prefer not to see teachers and particularly girls use cosmetics," said Mrs. Moyse, in further declaration of her stand in the matter. "But after all, is it not an individual problem, one of taste and refinement far more than one of an

EXEMPT FROM FEDERAL NORMAL INCOME TAX AND CALIFORNIA PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX

THIS COMPANY HAS NO BONDED INDEBTEDNESS OF ANY KIND

The following features make this Preferred Stock particularly attractive for an investment:

According to book values—not appraisal values—(after taking into effect fully all depreciation)—net assets of the corporation as of January 1, 1924, were five for one of the total Preferred Stock Outstanding.

The company does not speculate or deal in real estate, confining its efforts wholly to merchandising. Has no affiliated organization, or corporations which own stock, or in which it owns stock, except for trademark purposes.

The purpose of this issue is to extend the company's operations by the addition of fifty or more stores to keep pace with the growth of Southern California. A new warehouse recently moved into at the Los Angeles Wholesale Union Terminal will provide ample space for 15 years' growth.

Turnover of retail stocks will average from 18 to 20 times yearly. Element of speculation almost nil on account of rapidity of turnover.

Dealing in life's necessities, the business is affected very slightly by economic conditions.

The management will continue in the hands of Joseph A. Daley and associates, who have made such an outstanding success in the chain store grocery business of the United States.

Man Held Suspect in Lawson Slaying

NEW YORK, March 7.—Acting on mysterious information, Magistrate Miller is holding John Panfora, 31, without bail in connection with the murder of Louise Lawson, beautiful Texas music student, who was strangled to death in her apartment February 8. Magistrate Miller had previously held Panfora in $25,000 bail on a robbery charge. Later he had the prisoner re-arraigned. Thomas Kean, elevator operator, failed to identify Panfora as one of the men he had taken up to Miss Lawson's apartment.

There are more negroes over 100 years old in this country than white people above that age.

City Council Minutes

Following are the minutes of the meeting of the Glendale City Council, as prepared by the city clerk:

Council assembled at 10:30 o'clock A. M., March 6. All members present. Minutes of March 4 read and approved.

Hearings

The clerk notified the Council that this was the time, hour and place fixed for hearing protests or objections against the proposed improvement, or the extent of the district for the improvement of Thompson avenue and Fourth street in the city of Glendale as particularly described in Resolution of Intention No. 2297 passed by the said Council on the 14th day of February, 1924, and the clerk also reported to the Council that he had not received any written protests or objections up to the time set for the hearing. Whereupon the mayor asked if there were any interested persons present who desired to be heard, and all interested persons having been given full opportunity to show cause why the proposed improvement should not be carried out in accordance with the said resolution of intention, and all objections having been heard and considered, on motion of Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman Hall, duly carried, all protests were denied. Whereupon Councilman Gilhuly introduced a resolution entitled, "A Resolution of the Council of the City of Glendale ordering certain improvements to be made on portions of Thompson Avenue and Fourth Street within said City," which was read, and on his motion, seconded by Councilman Hall, the same was numbered Resolution No. 2311 and adopted.

Widen Central Avenue

This being the time set for hearing protests on the widening of Central avenue, Broadway to Lexington, clerk reported no protests received and there were no protestants present.

Improvement of Brand

The clerk notified the Council that this was the time, hour and place fixed for hearing protests or objections to the work, assessment, diagram or any act, determination or proceeding of the street superintendent or city engineer for the improvement of Brand boulevard as particularly described in Resolution of Intention No. 2157, passed by the Council on the 1st day of November, 1923, and the clerk also reported to the Council that he had not received any written protests or objections up to the time set for the hearing. Whereupon the mayor asked if there were any interested persons present who desired to be heard, and all interested persons having been given full opportunity to show cause why the proposed assessment should not be carried out in accordance with the diagram exhibiting the district to be assessed to pay the costs of said improvement, and all objections having been heard and considered, on motion of Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, all protests were denied and assessment roll as shown was confirmed.

Commercial District

This being the time set for hearing to set aside as commercial district property on the east side of Glendale avenue from Wilson to Lexington, clerk reported no protests received and there were no protestants present. On motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, duly carred, city attorney was instructed to draft the necessary amendment.

This being the time set for hearing to set aside as commercial district Lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, Tract 4490, clerk reported no protests received and there were no protestants present. On motion of Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, duly carried, hearing was continued until March 20.

Petitions

Petition signed by property owners, asking that Lots 3, 4, 5 and 6 of Tract No. 3946 be set aside as commercial district, was read. On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, duly carried, city clerk was instructed to set the necessary date of hearing on April 3 at 10 o'clock a. m.

Flood Waters

Petition signed by property owners, calling attention to the danger from washouts and storms on East Harvard street, was read and ordered filed.

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, city manager was instructed to take up with the flood control engineers of Los Angeles county the matter of flood water protection in Sycamore canon district, with a view of initiating immediate action, and make recommendation to the City Council of the necessary steps to be taken for such relief.

Petition signed by property owners, referring to a communication addressed to the Health Department regarding an obstruction in the Wash at 1234 South Boynton street, was read and on motion referred to city attorney.

License Ordinance

Members of the Glendale Credit Association addressed the Council regarding the change in license ordinance, also presented a communication of recommendation for amendments to Section 30 and Section 32 of Ordinance No. 573. On motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, duly carried, city attorney was instructed to amend Sections 30 and 32 of Ordinance No. 573.

Glendale Avenue

On motion of Councilman Davis, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, city attorney and city engineer were instructed to draft the necessary proceedings providing for the condemnation of property on Glendale avenue from Wilson to Lexington, providing for twelve feet back from the property line.

Extenson of Time

On motiton of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Hall, duly carried, Peter L. Ferry was granted an extension of ninety days on his contract for the improvement of Glendale avenue.

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Hall, duly carried, Peter L. Ferry was granted an extension of ninety days on his contract for the improvement of business district alleys.

Vote as follows: Ayes, Gilhuly, Hall, Kimlin, Robinson. Noes, Davis.

Alpha Road

Superintendent of plant and production reported that there was sufficient material on hand to do the work in accordance with Resolution No. 2287, and city controller reported that there was money available in the Public Service Budget Fund to pay the estimated cost of said work, and city engineer reported the bid of City of Glendale as the lowest responsible bidder for the improvement of Alpha road, Oak Glen road and Verdugo road, whereupon Councilman Kimlin introduced a resolution entitled, "A Resolution of the Council of the City of Glendale awarding the contract for the improvement of portions of Alpha road, Oak Glen road and Verdugo road within said city," which was read, and on his motion, seconded by Councilman Davis, the same was numbered Resolution No. 2512 and adopted.

Ordinances Adopted

The ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance of the Council of the City of Glendale establishing the grade on portions of Cleveland road and Kenneth road, all within the City of Glendale," which was introduced February 28, 1924, was read, and on motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Hall, said ordinance was adopted and numbered Ordinance No. 928.

The ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance of the Council of the City of Glendale ordering the widening of Park avenue in said City," which was introduced February 28, 1924, was read, and on motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, said ordinance was adopted and numbered Ordinance No. 929.

Moved by Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, that the ordinance amending Ordinance No. 806, entitled "An Ordinance of the Council of the City of Glendale fixing the salaries of the officials of said City, authorizing the employment of certain employes and fixing the compensation or rates of pay therefor, and repealing all ordinances conflicting therewith," be amended to read as it now stands in the hands of the city clerk.

The ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance amending Sections 4, 7, 12, 15, 16, 20, 22, 25 and 27 of Ordinance No. 806, passed on the 25th day of June, 1923, and entitled, 'An Ordinance of the Council of the City of Glendale fixing the salaries of the officials of said city, authorizing employment of certain employes and fixing the compensation or rates of pay therefor, and repealing all ordinances conflicting therewith,' which was introduced February 21, 1924," was read, and on motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, said ordinance was adopted as amended and numbered Ordinance No. 930.

Ordinances Offered

Councilman Hall introduced an ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance amending Sections 5, 6 and 10 of Ordinance No. 445, entitled, 'An Ordinance regulating the keeping, collection and disposal of garbage, rubbish and waste matter in the City of Glendale,' passed May 26, 1921," which was read and laid on the table.

Councilman Gilhuly introduced an ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance of the Council of the City of Glendale ordering the widening of Central avenue in said city," which was read and laid on the table.

Councilman Kimlin introduced an ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance providing for the appointment of a City Planning Commission, prescribing its powers and duties and providing for the conduct of its affairs," which was read and laid on the table.

On motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, duly carried, meeting was adjourned.

BURBANK

TIME NEARLY UP ON REGISTRATION

March 15 Last Day to Comply With Election Law In Order to Vote

With April 14 set as the date of the Burbank municipal election, the registration books will be closed March 15, as prescribed by law, states Mrs. Champion, who is registering voters daily at the Security Trust and Savings bank.

Voters may also register at the city clerk's office, in the City Hall, she states. If one wishes to vote at the primaries, it is necessary to name the party affiliation but this is not necessary if one wishes to vote at the regular election in the fall.

The filing of nomination papers must be accomplished before noon of March 25, according to F. S. Webster, city clerk. The law requires that not less than five nor more than ten names be on the nomination paper, and that these must be the names of electors who have registered since January 1, 1924. The proper blanks may be obtained at the city clerk's office.

Must Have New Plates

The California motor vehicle law requires that 1924 license plates be in place by March 1, otherwise drivers are subject to arrest. So those who have procrastinated with this necessary detail are not only compelled to pay a 100 per cent penalty but may from now on find themselves haled into court.

Miss Agnes McKenna, representing the Pacific Better Home bureau, contemplates putting on a week's lecture campaign in Burbank on the subject of color, her expenses to be paid by the local merchants who enter into the plan. She is known as "the rainbow girl" and her famous lecture, "Untwisting the Rainbow," has been heard in many places. W. F. Hollomon is a strong advocate of her theory that color plays an important part in the economy of life and with J. H. Barnum and May Clarke of the Chamber of Commerce, is considering bringing Miss McKenna to Burbank.

A one-story building is being erected at 2225 San Fernando boulevard by E. D. Music. The building is of hollow tile construction, 25 by 40 feet, and is being built for Gray & Wheat, who have taken a five-year lease on the building and will put in a vegetable, grocery and fruit market.

Emma Goldman's Red Tirade Cut in Two

LONDON, March 7.—"Half a book, half a book, half a book onward, Emma volleyed and thundered." These are the opening lines of a satiric poem which, it is learned here, has been composed by Miss Emma Goldman's anarchist circle in Berlin to describe the latest discomfiture of that well-known ex-American anarchist.

It appears that, having been deported to and from Russia and having found Bolshevism not at all to her liking, Miss Goldman wrote, in Berlin, a book to be entitled: "My Disillusionment with Russia," in which she put down for the benefit of history all the things that a sensitive, high-strung anarchist had to endure at the hands of the callous Bolshevist republic.

She divided the MS. into two parts and mailed them separately to a publisher in New York. Much to Miss Goldman's surprise and chagrin, the publisher, on receiving the first half of the MS., thought it was the whole, and promptly published it, thus leaving the author with at least one-half her grievances unventilated. Hence the doggerel lines: "Half a book, hafl a book, half a book onward!"

END OF SHIPBOARD?

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Abolition of the United States shipping board and the transfer of all its activities to the department of commerce will be proposed in a bill introduced in the house late yesterday by Representative Edmonds, Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on the merchant marine.

SAVING WATER

Regardless of the recent welcome rains, California is experiencing the driest winter in fifty years. The supply of water for all general and domestic purposes is far below normal.

This results in a smaller supply of water for generating electricity in the hydraulic plants, at the same time increasing the load due to the greater amount of power required by the ranchers for irrigation.

It has become necessary to restrict in some systematic fashion the amount of electric power being used so that the ranchers will have sufficient power and water to finish off their crops.

To this end, all Edison consumers are urged to reduce the amount of current being used by at least 20%. If this is done, each consumer will have enough power for essential purposes.

The Edison Company is operating all its steam reserves to their fullest capacity—is purchasing every available kilowatt from the other companies through its interconnections—is rushing to completion the new Long Beach steam plant and is shipping in several emergency units for temporary service.

Adequate financial reserves will protect our stockholders in every respect.

WE ARE DOING ALL WE CAN TO MEET A DIFFICULT AND UNCONTROLLABLE SITUATION.

WE FEEL THAT WE CAN COUNT ON YOUR ASSISTANCE AND CO-OPERATION.

LOCAL BISHOP WILL PRESIDE AT CONFERENCE

Delegates from States on Coast to Assemble at Fresno Meet

Bishop J. L. McElhany of Glendale will preside at the quadrennial session of the Pacific union conference of Seventh Day Adventists, which will be held in the Adventist church of Fresno, March 11 to 20.

Delegates will be present from the world's headquarters of the denomination in Washington, D. C., and from the six local conferences in California and those in Nevada, western Utah and Arizona, which comprise the Pacific Union Conference.

Clergymen and other gospel workers from all the leading churches located in these states will be present. The southern California conference, the largest local conference in the world, will not only be represented by its own delegates, but by the union conference leaders as well. All of the thirteen churches in Los Angeles will be represented, as well as those in Pasadena, Glendale, Long Beach, Sawtelle, San Pedro, Santa Monica, Burbank and Santa Barbara.

Church Leaders Coming

Among the workers who will attend under the leadership of President W. M. Adams are Reverends M. M. Hare, H. G. Lucas, C. S. Prout, G. W. Reaser, N. J. Waldorf, G. A. Snyder, C. J. Kunkel, P. L. Knox, V. H. Lucas, W. J. Johnson, M. D.; J. W. Rich, B. P. LeDuc, R. W. Parmele, E. A. Pohle, R. G. Schaffner and D. A. Ochs.

At this meeting plans will be laid for further advancement throughout this territory during the coming four years. Officers for the union conference will be elected, changes made in the ministry, and plans also will be made to give financial assistance to the foreign missionary enterprises which the mission board of the denomination has inaugurated.

During the coming convention, a large part of the program will be used for the spiritual uplift of the ministry. Addresses will be made by leaders from the world's headquarters of the denomination, who have had a varied experience throughout the United States and in other parts of the world.

Leading Delegates

Among the leaders coming from the world's headquarters are Reverends A. G. Daniels, Wade MacGuire, R. D. Quinn, J. McEachern, general field secretaries; and Prof. C. W. Irwin, representing the educational department of the denomination. Other representatives from the union headquarters will also be present. Among them will be B. M. Emerson, secretary-treasurer, Prof. W. W. Ruble, educational and young people's secretary; Prof. W. E. Nelson, president of Pacific Union college; David Voth, home missionary secretary; F. E. Painter, field missionary secretary; Dr. P. T. Magan of Los Angeles, medical secretary, and W. F. Martin, religious liberty secretary. All the above-named persons will take a leading part in the presentation and discussion of the important topics on the program.

The following are some of the topics which will receive special consideration: "Spiritual Uplift of the Ministry"; "Soul Saving Evangelism," this covers a large field, touching every point of a worker's life; "The Spiritual Condition of Our Churches"; "Gospel Finance," the promotion of giving tithes and offerings.

deeper significance? White powder is commonly accepted and is no longer considered as a cosmetic. And, after all, powder is powder, red or white.

"The teachers must decide for themselves what is womanly. The mothers will in the great majority of cases see that their daughters do not use cosmetics to excess. While I personally deplore the use of cosmetics and believe they are injurious to the skin and therefore to the general health, I agree with Mrs. Stanley that banning then would create a far more serious problem than their use."

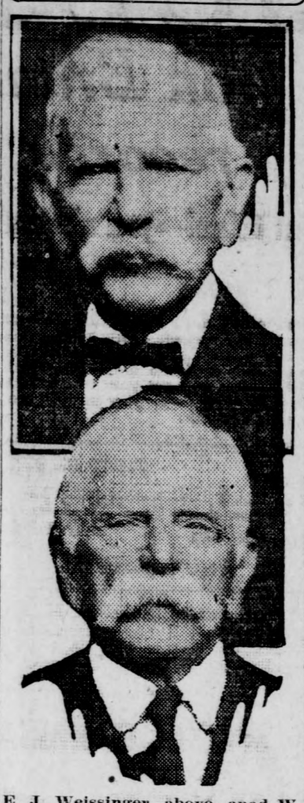
War and Romance Fail to Separate Alabama's Twins



E. J. Weissinger, above, anad W. T. Weissinger, the twins

E. J. Weissinger and W. T. Weissinger, of Dallas county, Alabama, are declared to be the only twins left who served together in the Civil war. They are now 76 years old and have always lived on the same plantation, which they operated jointly, although both were married, until influenced a few years ago by their families to make a division. They saw service at Mobile from 1864 to the close of the war. In all their lives, even during the Civil war, they have not been separated for as long as a whole day.

U. S. LEADING IN DAIRY PRODUCTS

One-Fourth of World's Cows Are In American Herds, Figures Prove

With one-fourth of the world's milch cows on its farms, yet with but one-sixteenth of the world's population, America stands supreme in the dairying business, 25,000,000 cows being the number estimated by the U. S. department of agriculture to be spread throughout the forty-eight states.

With this enormous milk producing machine, America might be expected to deal extensively in the exporting of dairy products, but officials of the Crescent Creamery company, who have made a study of the situation, declare that we never export above 2 per cent of the total, while during 1924 they estimate imports of dairy products will exceed exports.

Great Increase

In Denmark, on the other hand, exports of cheese alone has leaped from 300,000 kilograms in 1913 to 9,666,000 kilograms in 1920, and in 1922 approximately 12,000,000 kilograms, according to Crescent Creamery company officials. The value of these exports in 1922 reached 10,000,000 kroner.

A logical deduction from these figures is that the dairying industry of the United States requires stimulus. With 50,000,000 milch cows on American farms, creamery men declare, not only would the average family consume more dairy products and therefore be healthier, but the soil of the entire country would become greatly enriched, resulting in greater agricultural yields, while the profits from the surplus milk would add materially to the annual dividend check of the nation.

DISCUSSES SCOUT LAW ON RELIGION

Tolerance Spirit Fostered By Boys' Organization, Executive Says

The great spirit of tolerance fostered by the twelfth law advocated by the Boy Scout organization of America was emphasized last night by Tallman H. Trask, Scout executive of Pasadena, who was speaker at the first meeting of the Scout leaders' training institute, in session at the Harvard High school.

There were over forty-five prospective Scout leaders in attendance and they listened with interest to Mr. Trask and later participated in the instructive work under expert Scout leaders.

In his talk Mr. Trask stated that the Scout program is one adopted by fifty-two countries of the world and that more than one-half of the 1,000,000 Scouts in the world are in the United States.

He pointed out that the American Scout program went a step further than those of other nations by adopting the twelfth law, "A Scout is reverent. He is reverent to God and faithful to his religious duties. He respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion."

Fosters Tolerance

It is this law, Mr. Trask declared, that fosters tolerance and teaches American boys to respect the beliefs of others. By this law the Boy Scout movement is not hampered by sectarianism, but is all inclusive regardless of customs or beliefs.

George U. Moyse, head of the institute, opened the session last night, and introduced D. Ripley Jackson, who led in Scout songs.

The men attending the institute were organized into a Scout troop by Harvey R. Cheesman, Glendale executive, and Roy L. Kent was named Scoutmaster with a committee including Francis J. W. Henry, William Hunter and James Bentley.

Later the troop was divided into patrols of eight members each and the patrol leader elected. C. L. Wyman was chosen senior patrol leader. At this point the new "Scouts" were notified that before the next meeting each one was to "earn" fifty cents, the annual dues required of every Scout.

Instruction Given

Camp Director Baird of Pasadena gave instruction in knot tying, signaling, and games involving the various Scout requirements.

Mr. Trask then conducted a model patrol leaders' meeting and after refreshments the group adjourned.

Tonight's meeting will be at 7:30 o'clock in the girls' gymnasium at the Harvard High school. The faculty will include Francis J. W. Henry, song leader; Roland E. Dye, Scout executive of Orange county; C. N. Miller, national regional Scout executive over California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah.

CONDITIONS TOLD BY SWISS BISHOP

European Affairs Described In Address Delivered At Church Here

Under the auspices of the Glendale Ministerial association, of which Rev. J. C. Livingston is president, Bishop John L. Nuelson, representative of the Methodist Episcopal denomination in Central Europe, with headquarters in Zurich, Switzerland, spoke last night at the Glendale Presbyterian church on conditions in Central Europe.

He told of the suffering of the peoples, brought about largely by the depleted currency. He told in detail of the deplorable conditions in Germany.

He stated that at present chaos reigned in the Central European countries and that only through religious understanding, sympathy and teaching will peace and prosperity be restored.

Bishop Nuelson has come to America under the Federated Council of Churches in Christ, to conduct a campaign of information, speaking in all parts of the United States on conditions in foreign parts. He urges all church people of the United States to heartily support their foreign boards.

Educational Representatives Submit Their Views Upon Changes In School System

City, La Crescenta, Tujunga, and Monte Vista Elementary school districts. The question of the formation of a Junior High school or a system of Junior High schools to serve this district or any portion thereof is under discussion.

The High school board of trustees wishes your interpretation of the law upon the following points:

1.—We understand that the three districts, Crescenta, Tujunga and Monte Vista, may annex to Glendale City for school purposes only, thereby forming one district under the control of the Glendale City board of education in which junior high schools may then be formed at the discretion of the Glendale City board of education. In this case, we understand, the boards of trustees of the Glendale Union High school district and of Crescenta, Tujunga, to exist as boards of trustees.

(Please give the section of the law covering the matter given above.)

2.—That a Union Junior High school may be formed as given in Section 1750-A.

In the elementary districts comprising our Union High school district, Crescenta, Tujunga and Monte Vista have each three trustees, and Glendale City a city board of education of five members, making a total of fourteen trustees. What would, in this case, constitute "a majority of the boards of trustees" as given in Section 1750-A?

3.—If the Union Junior High schools were established as provided in Section 1750-A, could the high school board build a junior high school upon sites already owned by one or another of the elementary districts comprising the high school district, or must they first lease or purchase such sites?

4.—If one or more junior high school sites were purchased and junior high schools placed thereon in one or another of the elementary districts comprising the high school union district and this district or districts later withdrew to form a new high school district, who would then own the junior high school sites and buildings in these elementary districts?

5.—Were any measures passed by the 1923 legislature that have any bearing upon the junior high school problem?

May we ask that we receive your opinion in these matters in time for our consideration at our next meeting on Thursday, February 14.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE U. MOYSE,
Principal.

Office of
COUNTY COUNSEL
Los Angeles County
Los Angeles, California
February 15, 1924.

Mr. George U. Moyse,
Glendale, California.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter under date of February 2nd relative to the formation of Junior High schools, or a system of such High schools, I beg to advise as follows:

First: The elementary districts of Crescenta, Tujunga and Monte Vista may be combined with Glendale City School districts by either of two methods, namely: under the third proviso of Section 1576, or under the proviso contained in the second subdivision of Section 1577. The combination of the four elementary districts under either of these sections would result in the transformation of the Union High School district into a City High School district, subject to the management of the Board of Trustees of the Elementary School district, as provided in Section 1726. The reorganization of the new Board would be conducted under the terms of Section 1732.

Second. In my opinion the form a majority of the Boards of Trustees," as that term is used in Section 1750a, means a majority of the Boards and not a majority of the aggregate number of members taken collectively. In other words, it means the action, in your case, of three of the four boards.

Third. The High School district would not be justified in building Junior High schools upon sites owned by Elementary districts. It would be necessary to purchase the sites from the Elementary districts. High School districts and Elementary districts are separate and distinct entities, and the funds of the one must not be mingled with the funds of the other. The same rule applies to the commingling of the property.

Fourth. In the event that the Union High school district purchased one or more Junior High school sites located in one or another of the Elementary districts, and such Elementary distric or districts later withdrew to form a new High school district, the new High school district would become the owner of the sites and buildings located within its boundaries. However, under the provisions of Section 1733-A the territory of the original Union High school districts would remain liable for the entire indebtedness to the same extent as though no exclusion had occurred.

Fifth. There was no statute passed by the 1923 legislature which has any bearing upon the Junior High school problem.

Yours very truly,
EDWARD T. BISHOP,
County Counsel.
By J. H. O'Connor, Assistant.

Argument Submitted by City School Superintendent

The following was prepared at the request of the Committee of Schools of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce by R. D. White, City Superintendent of Schools:

Present Organization

There are in existence in Glendale functioning side by side, each being independent of the other, two school organizations. First, there is the Glendale Union High school whose district comprises the city of Glendale and the school districts of La Crescenta, Tujunga and Monte Vista. This school district is controlled by the Glendale Union High School Board of Trustees of five members elected two a year for two years and one the third year. This Board employs a Superintendent of the High School district, a Business Manager and a Supervisor of Attendance.

The Glendale City School district is controlled by the Glendale Board of Education, a body consisting of five members elected only at alternate years exactly as the City Council and other officials of the city of Glendale are elected, two members of the Board going out of office at one election and three at the next. This Board employs a City Superintendent of Schools, a Business Manager and a Supervisor of Attendance.

Each of these departments maintains an office force to carry on the work of the educational and business departments.

In the educational work, which of course is the chief business of the schools, the High school maintains heads of departments having supervisory powers with a teaching force under them. In the elementary schools each school has a principal and in addition there are six supervisors of special departments as follows: music, penmanship, art, manual training, physical education and home economics.

Under this dual management the various educational departments work together and in harmony only in so far as good feeling and friendship will permit them to do. There is no uniformity of plan such as would result from a single head in each department instead of two.

Another danger in the dual form of management is that the plans for the development and expansion of the school system may be inconsistent or may overlap since they are made by mutually independent bodies.

Having set forth above the present school organization and some of its inherent weaknesses I submit herewith the advantages of consolidation as they appear to me.

Unified Supervision

This means that operating under a general superintendent there would be heads of the various departments who would each in his or her own department so consolidate and unify the work that a continuous course of study would be planned from the first grade through the high school. This would be true of all of the fundamental subjects and the high school subjects which naturally follow them, as well as of the special lines of work, for instance, probably it is generally recognized that there is no subject in the curriculum more important than the study of the English language from its various angles. This is plainly shown by the amount of time that is given in the elementary school curriculum, as well as in the high school curriculum, to every phase of this language study, such as reading and literature, spelling, grammar and composition, oral English, debating etc. Under present conditions the elementary, intermediate and high school teachers work together on a friendly basis, but, in case of failure to agree on any point, would simply be compelled to agree to disagree.

If this unified supervision would bring about greater efficiency in the fundamentals, it would do so even more in such special lines of work as manual training, art, music, etc.

The Business Department

In the business department the advantages to be gained through this consolidation are just as great. This will be shown in many different directions, first in buying power. The elementary and high school districts acting together would have a buying power almost twice as great as either one acting separately, and this would be a great asset, especially in view of the fact often reiterated by the county superintendent of schools of this county that many small districts pay for supplies and equipment twice, three times and, in some extreme cases, ten times as much as the largest districts in the county.

If inquiry is made of those who have supplies, furniture and equipment to sell to schools as to why Los Angeles, Long Beach and Pasadena can buy more cheaply than many other cities and districts in the county, they will unhesitatingly answer — because of their greater buying power and their ability to take things in larger lots.

The Repair Department

In keeping twelve school buildings in good repair it is necessary for the board of education to employ a force of men working full time all the year 'round, and no doubt the high school does the same. If the districts were united this work could all be handled under the supervision of a superintendent of buildings, who, in addition to handling the repair work mentioned above, would also supervise the work of the janitors.

Under this arrangement, too, much of the work now done in the mills and paid for at regular rates could be done for much less in the high school shops, either as a part of the work of the manual training department, or by the regular repair men outside of school hours.

Unified Program

Assuming for [illegible]endale the same growth in t[illegible]ear future that it has had in the past, it seems perfectly safe to say that a program of expansion for both the high and elementary schools is facing us. Since last June the Glendale board of education has built and equipped forty-six additional rooms, all of which, with the exception of three, which are not yet finished, will be filled to overflowing next week, when the second term of school begins.

The high school board is just about to open the new plant on Broadway and Verdugo road, and yet they find it necessary at the same time to maintain school in the old plant.

Now, if this program of expansion is to be properly carried on so as to produce the greatest possible value in new buildings and sites for the amount of money involved, the program ought to be a single one, and not a double one.

Junior High Schools

With the consolidation of the school systems there would no longer be any obstacles to the organization of junior high schools.

This would greatly relieve the pressure on the High school since it would take away from them all of the ninth grade and possibly some of the tenth. It would also give us a much more efficient school system and one arranged on the proper psychological basis.

Economy

It seems to me that this subject of economy has been more or less covered in the above outline, but perhaps it would not be out of place to emphasize one or two places where economies might be effected.

First, the number of the personnel of the educational supervision would not need to be so great under the unified school system as it would under the double school system. For example, instead of having two persons in charge of the supervision of the penmanship work we could have one. The same thing would apply to art, music, etc., as well as to the general supervision of the various departments.

The same thing applies to the management of the business department, the repair department and the attendance department. I do not mean that it would be possible under such an arrangement to conduct the schools with fewer employes than we have at the present time, because, with the normal growth of both school systems, this would be impossible, but I do mean that the necessary increase of personnel in these various departments would not be nearly so great under a single school system as it would under a double.

Secondly, in reference to the greater buying power mentioned above and the cheaper prices that might be obtained for supplies, furniture and equipment, the saving to be effected at this point would undoubtedly be very considerable.

Again, in the repair department the saving would be well worth while since we could be able to handle so much more of our own work than we can handle under present conditions.

In the attendance department there would be a single head with one or more assistants as this department of the school system might require, and the work undoubtedly could be handled more efficiently than with two separate departments.

On the whole, in the educational department, which, of course, is the department for which the schools are organized and carried on, in the business department, in the repair department and in the attendance department there would be a degree of efficiency and a well worth while saving of money under one management which could not possibly be effected under a dual organization,

OLD WILSON HOME STILL STANDING

Parsonage Where Father of Late President Resided Remains Intact

CANONSBURG, Pa., Mar. 7.—Rev. Joseph Ruggles Wilson, father of the late ex-President Wilson, was at one time pastor of the historic Hill (Presbyterian) church, near here. The old house in which the former president's father lived while serving the Hill congregation, is still standing.

Woodrow Wilson's father graduated from Jefferson college here in 1844, and after completing his theological course at Princeton he became pastor of the Chartiers (Hill) Presbyterian church, one mile east of this city. This was his first charge, and he was located there for three years, from 1848 to 1851. At the same time he was professor of rhetoric in Jefferson college.

After leaving this vicinity, Rev. Joseph Wilson went to Hamden-Sidney college. In 1856 he went to Staunton, Va., to become pastor of the Presbyterian church, where Woodrow Wilson was born December 28, the same year.

Dr. Joseph Wilson was a native of Steubenville, Ohio, and his wife was the daughter of Rev. Dr. Thomas Woodrow, for whom Woodrow, their firstborn, was named.

While Mr. Wilson was President he learned that the old side-saddle which his mother used while she lived at Canonsburg was still in possession of one of the members of the congregation. He expressed a desire to possess it, and the owner, a Mr. Lyons, sent it to him.

The Hill church is one of the oldest and most historic west of the Allegheny mountains. It was founded in pioneer times by Dr. John McMillan, founder of Jefferson college, at Canonsburg, and a pioneer educator in Western Pennysylvania.

Petroleum Politics
Our Oily Politicians
The Lesson They Teach
Optimism for Business

By Gil A. Cowan

Petroleum politics is the watchword of the day. The news dispatches fairly sizzle with new revelations. Editors rave over lessons to be learned. Gossips go gallivanting about the towns of Washington and New York and Los Angeles and Glendale with the latest rumors affecting the presidential possibilities.

And all because—because some men elected and selected for public office apparently abused the confidence reposed in them by their superiors, as well as the people. They allowed money to overcome principle; they allowed friends to barter their reputations in the quest for money, dirty money.

Editor Palmer of The Hollywood Daily Citizen has written an epic on the subject which he entitles "A Lesson." The text of his thought follows:

"Politicians and special interests tried to find some flaws in the past life of Senator Walsh of Montana in order to cause him to desist in his investigations of the leasing of government oil lands with its revelations of political conditions in our national government.

"They were unsuccessful.

"Consequently the investigation goes on to the benefit of the public and the consternation of those who had come to believe that the national government is an instrumentality for the use of special interests.

"Senator Walsh is a Democrat and young men will be told by loyal Republican fathers that he is the embodiment of all that is political folly because of his party affiliations.

"But loyal Democratic fathers and fathers who maintain independence in politics should point to Senator Walsh as an example for their sons to remember if they are going to take any part in the affairs of their government.

"Senator Walsh has given to the people and his country a service that will be outstanding in the country's history.

"He could not have done this did he not have a strength of character and a record for square dealing and clean living and straight shooting that proves impregnable.

"Had he been only an ordinary type of politician he would have been forced by political influences to have abandoned his investigation that has brought to the public attention conditions in government that are appalling.

"Had he lived a past life that had to be covered up for his own protection, the threat of uncovering that past life would have forced him to abandon his work.

"The bane of our present-day politics is that the majority of those entering them believe that it is for them to do as politicians generally do.

"If a public position is desired, the new man entering politics seeks to learn the way of politicians and does as politicians advise.

"It takes him little time to learn that the majority of those playing politics are doing so not because they are interested in any issue, not because they are eager to serve their government or their country, but because of some benefit that might come to their personal interests.

"The new man quickly learns that while the public believes it selects its presidents, the presidents are as a matter of fact selected by the politicians controlling conventions.

"He quickly learns that he will receive favors only as he does the bidding of the politicians who are closest to the control of the political machine.

"Perhaps the time comes when he secures a public office and presumably public honor.

"Perhaps then he would like to strike out clean to carry forward the high principles in which he thinks he believes.

"Then he finds himself restricted, tied down by political obligations and handicapped in innumerable ways in doing the work he would like to do.

"He learned politics but he didn't learn that the man who brings real service to his fellow men and to his government is the man who has no master but the people, the man whose political ambitions are not master of his political ideals, the man whose record is without a flaw.

"So it is well for the young man with high ideals to look at Senator Walsh.

"They haven't 'got him,' they haven't destroyed his great usefulness to his country because they haven't found the weak points that they find in the average politician.

"There is perhaps little reward for the right type of men.

"Their way will be hard, their problems great and their battles at times discouraging.

"But so it is with the soldier. So it was with Washington, with Lincoln, with Wilson.

"If there are those to whom the service of their country alone is greater than the service of selfish aims and ambitions, then there is a call for them in the politics of our country today.

"We have enough of Falls.

"The call today is for a different type."

An optimistic note is sounded in the following editorial from the Pasadena Star-News:

"Business and manufacturing are not slumping this Presidential year, as pessimists have predicted would be the case. There is a cheerful tone, according to the official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Distinct progress has been shown in many lines of business and industry. There are some unsatisfactory features, it is true. But nothing is looming to foreshadow a period of depression.

"The general aspect is favorable. The people are optimistic and confident. They expect good times to persist. Their very expectation in this will help to bring it to pass. There is no tide of distrust and fearfulness running through the body politic. The economic psychology of the country is about all that could be desired."

WEBB'S TO STAGE NEW APRON SALE

Popular Articles Will Be Offered Next Week to Satisfy Demands

The women of Glendale will again have the privilege of securing another supply of the "Happy Home Apron Dresses" at the H. S. Webb & company store, 139 North Brand boulevard, which will be placed on sale next week, according to announcement made this morning.

Three previous sales of these aprons or house dresses recently held at Webb's proved such popular events that the demand was greater than the supply. Today announcement was made that an unusually large stock of these popular apron dresses has been secured and will be placed on sale in the downstairs store.

Further announcement and details will be found in an advertisement in The Glendale Evening News issue on Monday, March 10.

Woman Would Throw Electric Chair Switch

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 7.—A woman may be the next Oklahoma state executioner.

"I'm willing to throw the switch connected with the electric chair of the state prison for $50," wrote the woman, whose name Governor M. E. Trapp refused to reveal.

"Women are not cowardly when it comes to strict enforcement of the laws," the writer asserted.

REAPPOINTS CROCKER

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 7.—Governor Richardson has announced the reappointment of William H. Crocker of San Francisco as a member of the board of regents of the University of California.

EAGLE ROCK

NAME ARTIST TO DO DECORATIONS

Conrad Buff Commissioned To Paint Murals for Whittier Hotel

Conrad Buff of 151 Avoca avenue, whose paintings are now creating such a favorable impression at the Hollywood library, where they are on exhibit, is an artist whose residence in Eagle Rock advertises the community, for he is known for his work throughout the civilized world.

And now comes to Mr. Buff a new honor, no less than being chosen to do the walls and mural decorations in the lobby of the new William Penn hotel at Whittier. He is also working on a decorative painting to go above the fireplace there, he states.

Mr. Buff's idea is that a mural painter should be consulted about the color and architecture of the whole room and that only by supervising both walls and paintings can real harmony be achieved.

"It has been the experience of many fine artists who paint what are called easel paintings that their work is often almost destroyed when it is hung in some places where the color of the walls are antagonistic," says Mr. Buff. "Much beauty is lost in such a conflict and an artist and an owner of paintings would both be better satisfied if the artist could be consulted previous to the completion of his work."

In the Conrad Buff exhibit now hung at the Hollywood library are sixteen canvases, among them the splendid landscape called "Summit Lake," representing the beautiful body of water lying at the head of Big Pine creek, from which Los Angeles gets most of its water supply. The artist spent a portion of last summer in this region.

EXPLAINS REFUND ON INCOME TAXES

Will Credit Account If Cut Is Made In Rate After Return Filed

Income tax returns filed up to March 4 indicate that 196,000 persons or 70 per cent of those required to file returns for the year 1923 in Southern California are persons whose net income was derived chiefly from salaries and wages and was $5,000 or less, according to a special report sent to Washington yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell.

An outstanding feature of the collector's survey was a prediction that total tax collections on income reported for 1923 in Southern California would exceed $42,000,000, which would set a new record for the district.

Instructions were received by Collector Goodcell yesterday regarding the method to be employed in refunding the proposed reduction of 25 per cent in income taxes in the event the Longworth bill becomes a law.

The first announcement on tax reduction made by Commissioner Blair which affects 280,000 Southern California taxpayers was telegraphed to Collector Goodcell and is as follows:

"There is a universal desire on the part of taxpayers to take full advantage of the proposed reductions, and especially of the 25 per cent reduction on income for the year 1923. However, the tax on income for the year 1923 is being collected under the revenue act of 1921, which is still in effect, and which provides heavy penalties for failure or 'willful refusal' to file a return and pay, at least, one-fourth of the tax on or before March 15, 1924. The revenue act of 1924, containing this and other proposed reductions, is now before Congress and there is little likelihood of its enactment prior to the closing day of the filing period.

Would Give Credit

"The proposed 25 per cent reduction in the tax on income for the year 1923 is retroactive to January 1, 1923. Enactment of the pending legislation means, in the case of taxpayers who pay on the installment plan, a revision of their accounts in the offices of the collectors by crediting the accounts with one-fourth of the amount of the tax declared to be due on the return. In those cases where the tax is paid in full at the time of filing the returns, the 25 per cent excess will be refunded promptly without the requirement of filing a claim.

"No material advantage is to be gained by taxpayers who withhold their returns which should be made out in accordance with the provisions of the revenue act of 1921, the normal tax rate being 4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income above the exemptions and 8 per cent on the remaining net income, and the surtax ranging from 1 per cent on the amount of net income between $6,000 and $10,000 to 50 per cent on the amount by which the net income exceeds $200,000.

"Every single person whose net income for 1923 was $1,000 or more, or whose gross income was $5,000 or more, must file a return. Married persons (living together) are required to file a return if the aggregate net income was $2,000 or more, or if the aggregate gross income was $5,000 or more.

"Single persons in calculating the normal tax may subtract from their income an exemption of $1,000. The exemption for married persons and heads of families is $2,500 on incomes of $5,000 or less and $2,000 on incomes in excess of $5,000. Taxpayers are allowed also an additional credit of $400 for each person (other than husband or wife) dependent upon and receiving his chief support from the taxpayer, if such dependent person is under 18 years of age, or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective."

Buron Fitts Speaks to Legion Tonight

Glendale Post No. 127 of the American Legion, and auxiliary, have issued invitations to the members of the posts and auxiliaries of Monte Vista No. 250, Tujunga; Verdugo Hills No. 288 of Montrose, and Eagle Rock, to be present tonight at the Legion hall on East Broadway when Buron Fitts of Los Angeles, past state rommander of the Legion, will be the guest of honor. He has consented to give an address on "Crime Crushing."

In addition to his talk, there will be comment of timely interest to all posts in this vicinity on problems that vitally concern the welfare of the organization. After the business session a social hour will be held.

Many of the local Legionnaires who are members of the Forty and Eight are planning to attend the celebration and initiation to be staged at El Centro Saturday, when a large class will be taken in. The party leaves Los Angeles at 6 o'clock Saturday morning.

Power Company Must Attend to Irrigation

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Far-reaching in importance to the hydro-electric development of Nevada county, a final agreement, after three years' negotiation, between the Nevada county irrigation district and the Pacific Gas and Electric company for the development of irrigation water in that district, has been reached under the guidance of the railroad commission.

The contract will provide for the development of approximately 140,000 acre feet of water on the south and middle forks of the Yuba river, its diversion through Lake Spaulding and power plants of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, and its return for irrigation purposes in Nevada county at the expenditure of $8,000,000 by the company and the district in water and hydro-electric power development works.

Train Wreckers Flee Sheriff's Gun Volley

MUSCATINE, Iowa, March 7.—Iowa authorities have begun an investigation of daylight attempts to wreck trains near here, following the discovery of spikes driven between rails on the Muscatine, Burlington and Southern railroad. Huge holes, according to officers, were found dug under the track of the Rock Island railroad. Two men who were seen near the tracks made their escape in an automobile after deputies opened fire on them. A satchel of tools which the two men had dropped in making their escape, was taken by the deputies.

World's average yearly cotton crop is approximately 20,000,000 bales.

Rail Commission to Aid Power Companies

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Steps to prevent a power shortage in Southern California as a result of the drought conditions prevailing there, were taken today by the state railroad commission.

The principal power companies operating in that section were requested to meet Monday, March 10, with President Clyde L. Seavey and Commissioner Harvey Brundage in Los Angeles to discuss plans for handling the situation.

The commission called attention to the success resulting from the organization of a power administration during the years of 1918-19-20 when similar conditions existed, declaring that similar action may be necessary this year to assure equality of treatment to the public and the greatest possible service.

Mexicans Retaliate for Closing Order

CALEXICO, March 7—Mexican officials at Mexicali have retaliated against the American government for enforcing a 9 o'clock "curfed" on the border which goes into effect immediately.

No American was allowed to cross the border yesterday without having in his possession an identification card. Inasmuch as very few Americans had such a card, traffic over the border is practically suspended. Hundreds of automobiles, trucks, and a long line of people were lined up to secure these identification cards, which, it was announced by Governor Rodriguez of Lower California, must be issued every time an American, as well as all other foreigners, enter Mexico.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

Hoot Gibson in the Universal attraction, "The Thrill Chaser," written and directed by Edward Sedgwick, shows at the Glendale theater today and tomorrow, with pretty Billy Dove in the leading feminine role.

Omar K. Jenkins, cowpuncher de luxe, heard that three thousand dollars was what one cowboy got when he went into pictures.

"I want three thousand bucks a week, but I'll start at two thousand," he informed Fred Datig, casting director at Universal City.

"The Thrill Chaser," however, isn't laid entirely in filmland. The story carries the "extra" man hero into faraway Arabia, where he earns twenty-five thousand dollars as a "double" for a real sheik.

Blackmailer Breaks Down and Confesses

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—Stricken by his conscience and overcome by the fear that the police "had something on him," Lawrence McLean, held in jail here on a charge of suspicion of burglary, broke down and confessed yesterday that he was a member of the $100,000 blackmailing ring of Cincinnati, Ohio. McLean, to prove his contention that he was a member, produced the twelve original letters written by John L. Bushnell, millionaire, Springfield, Ohio, banker, to Rose Putnam, now serving a jail sentence for her participation in the blackmail ring.

THE GATEWAY

"The Stranger," a Paramount picture featuring Betty Compson, Richard Dix, Tully Marshall and Lewis Stone, continues at the Gateway theater today and tomorrow. It was directed by Joseph Henabery, one of the leading men in this profession. John Galsworthy is the author of the story.

This is Miss Compson's first picture since her return from England, and may we add that it is very good to have her with us again. A word here, too, on the superb characterization of Tully Marshall in the title role would not go amiss. It more than measures up to the standard set by his "Bridger" in "The Covered Wagon," and that is praise indeed.

"The Stranger" will make you sit up and take notice. It's real. It's different.

BUSINESS IS BUSINESS

CHICAGO, March 7.—A challenge to other party candidates to go before the senate committee or otherwise make public their private business transactions and generally explain "how they made their money," was flung down by Judge David Ladd Rockwell, national chairman of the McAdoo-for-President committee on his arrival here late yesterday.

BRUIN ATHLETES WIN HOOP TITLE

Crucial Battle With Huskies Goes Into Extra Time To Decide Winner

OAKLAND, March 7.—The California Bear is resting secure on the top rung of the ladder with the basketball championship of the Pacific Coast conference firmly grasped in his paws as the result of his second victory over Washington last night. The score was 28-25.

Like the first game played Tuesday night when California won 32-31, an extra five-minute period was required in the contest last night before the winner was decided. When the gun was fired at the end of the regular period the score was 24-24.

The present series will go down in history as the greatest ever staged for the conference championship. Both teams fought fiercely and as a result many fouls were called. Each game ran into extra time, and kept the fans in an uproar from start to finish.

Play Grows Rough

California could not solve the Husky defense during the first period last night, and the visitors led at the end of the first half, 13-11. As the second half progressed the lead alternated, and the play became rougher as the minutes sped by. Kincaid of California and Gardner of Washington were banished for four personal fouls each.

Captain Frayne and Hesketh did most of the scoring for Washington, while Huovenin and Kyte performed in a stellar manner for the Bears.

WASHINGTON		CALIFORNIA

1934 ?

Babe Ruth, at thirty, has achieved not only a measure of fame at least equal to that of any other private individual, but also has attained a degree of financial compensation for his talents far in excess of any other ball player that ever lived.

Ruth is assured of a berth with the New York Yankees this coming season and for two more seasons, at $52,000 a year. That's $1,000 a week—and if one is statistically minded, his income by the day, hour or minute might prove illuminating.

It is said that in the year following Ruth's phenomenal achievement of fifty-nine home runs in one season he earned more than $150,000 in addition to his salary, on side issues, through the enterprise of those who made commercial capital of his name and fame.

Christy Matthewson, in his own day greatest of the great ball players, is said never to have received more than $12,500 a year.

Cy Young, of the old Cleveland club, in the National League, was never paid more than $4500 a year, it is declared.

Ruth passed his thirtieth birthday this month.

COAST COLLEGES IN TRACK PLANS

Three Universities Join In Project to Encourage Western Athletics

The latest Pacific coast track event is the inauguration of the California relays, recently organized by the University of California, Stanford, and the University of Southern California for the purpose of creating more interest in athletics on the coast and to give the teams of the coast a chance to show their real worth when they are in their prime at the end of the season. The California relays will be held May 10 on the Berkeley oval. Next year Stanford will be the scene of the newly planned meet, with U. S. C. acting as host the third year. At least ten relay events will be listed with possibly the pole-vault, high jump, 100-yard dash, broad jump, and 120 high hurdles.

Big Ones to Compete

All of the leading universities and colleges on the coast will enter teams in the relays. With the pick of the Pacific coast performing some exceptionally good time is looked for in all the events. Most of the Southern California conference coaches are much in favor of the newly scheduled meet. Coach Nixon of Pomona and Coach Pipal of Occidental are certain to enter teams in the California relays. The Tiger varsity four-man mile relay team will be back from the Drake relay carnival in time to enter the Golden Bear event.

"BEAN OLE"—Van Camp's

Beans are entirely different from the regular Pork and Beans—being prepared in the Maine Woods. They are parboiled until thoroughly soft. Pork, Molasses, Mustard and other ingredients are added, and then they are lowered into a pit 3 feet deep in the earth, in which a half a cord of wood has been burned to ashes. The pots are covered with hot earth and left to bake slowly for 12 hours. This gives them their own distinctive flavor.

UGE 'GATES' AT AMES START ROW

ootball Rapidly Becoming Commercialized, Claim Of Some Educators

By LES CONKLIN
For International News Service

NEW YORK, March 7.—The ggering sums taken in as gate eipts at football games in the ger universities last season ve convinced various college au- orities that the sport has over- pped the bounds of "sport for rt's sake" and is becoming a mmercial enterprise. They ew with alarm" the demand larger stadiums, fearing that tball has so monopolized inter- in college activities that, like Frankenstein monster, it eatens to destroy the ideals of institution which fostered it. Statistics show a considerable iation in the size of the gate eipts. At Syracuse profits of proximately $40,000 were real- d last season. The receipts rtopped every previous year's, expenditures were also ater. The money from foot- was used to run all other rts.

Football profits at Columbia versity for last season were ,000, as compared with $15,- for 1920; $17,000 for 1921 $18,000 for 1922.

Although the athletic associa- at Williams college collected 44 in gate receipts and $11,- in guarantees, the money en in was almost entirely n up by expenses.

r. Charles W. Kennedy, chair- n of the board of athletic trol at Princeton university, sed as "superficial" the state- t that college football has me commercialized.

Natural Result

These large football gate re- ts have come in an entirely ntaneous way," explained Dr. nedy, "because football is a e with a thrilling interest to spectator beyond that of any r sport. Spectators, therefore, and seats. In the absence of ia with elastic walls, the blem of athletic associations he so-called 'big' games is not ttract spectators, but to repel n.

It is varsity football almost e that finances our whole ern system of intercollegiate t," he declared.

r. Kennedy pointed out that the larger universities the dling of the athletic funds has ed out of the hands of under- uates and of "irresponsible ps of alumni" into the ad- istration of responsible busi- organizations under the con- of the universities. The only expenses can be reduced, Dr. nedy declared, is for coaches ive their services free and for tudents to buy their own ath- equipment.

he other side of the question upheld by Walter Camp, one he world's foremost authori- on athletics, who condemned existing system on the ground all the money taken in was nded for the benefit of a ll percentage of the student .

Camp Objects

The trouble with college ath- s is that there is too much etics and too few athletes," Camp. "Hundreds of thou- s of dollars are spent, and product is a few score ath- trained to the last notch. other unnumbered thousands ollege students are satisfied the second-hand glory in the cf 'our team,' and for the part do not realize their own re to secure a share in the ral athletic benefit. After t is not the amount of money n in at these sports, it is how money is expended that ts."

nus the controversy rages, e authorities condemning the mmercial spirit" which now acterizes the sport of football others claiming that large receipts are necessary to fi- e other sports.

Watch Genewich While He's on Hill, Is Beantown Tip

Joseph Genewich

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The summer of 1922 found Joseph Genewich hurling ball on the Elmira, N. Y., sandlots for the munificent sum of five smackers a game.

A Boston Brave scout, dropping into Elmira, looked the lad over and decided he was a comer. This despite the fact that the Giant ivory hunters had decided otherwise.

That fall Genewich got a chance to show his stuff. Manager Mitchell shoved him into six games, most of which seemed hopeless. Genewich worked twenty-three innings and acquitted himself well although the only games for which he got credit were chalked up as defeats.

Last season Genewich, with a seventh place club behind him, won thirteen and lost fourteen games. In 227 innings he was hit freely but showed great control, only forty-six bases on balls being chalked against him.

Numbered among his achievements for last year was a neat victory over the then world's champion Giants.

This year Genewich, with a year of big league pitching experience behind him, should ring up a much more imposing record. At least Dave Bancroft, new Brave pilot, believes he will.

Bancroft probably will look to Genewich, Marquard, Cooney, Jess Barnes, McNamara and Hullihan to do the twirling. Cooney, however, will have to show more stuff than he did last season to grab off a regular turn. Tim McNamara faired badly last seaseason, winning but three games while dropping thirteen, but the record book doesn't do him justice. As for Rube Marquard, that tall veteran, now waiting at St. Petersburg for the Braves' camp to open, he says he has another good year in his system. Rube knocked off eleven victories and got nicked fourteen times.

As the squad stacks up young Genewich has a chance to be the mound star of the Braves.

CARL SAWYER TO STAGE SOME FUN

Comedian Will Be on Lot Sunday for Last Game With Giants' Squad

Carl Sawyer, former Vernon comedian, and now the property of the Wichita club of the Western league under Frank Isbell, who was pastiming out of the city last week, will be back in uniform next Sunday when the seventh and deciding game is staged between the St. Louis Giants and the White Sox.

During the Triple A season when Carl held down second regularly for the Sox, the going was none too smooth and he was ordered by Mike Donlin to cut out the comedy as it gave the fans the impression that the home town team did not take the game seriously.

But now that Carl is the leader and the Sox have turned in a couple of wins he is beginning to cut up his old antics again, which tickles the majority of the fans fully as much as a win for the Sox.

Farewell Appearance

Despite the star counter attractions of the Chicago Cubs and the Vernon Tigers at Washington Park and the Sawtelle-Shell Oil fracas at Long Beach, the local fray should draw well as the Giants have a large following in Los Angeles. Their rooting is quite as much a feature of the game as anything else. They will surely be out in force for the final game and the farewell appearance of the Giants before they hie eastward to take part in the coming season of the colored National league.

With Bennie Hall on the mound, either Chet Thomas or Pete Lapan, both former major leaguers, will do the receiving. This battery looks the best that Glendale has had this year, and has been productive of more results.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR CHAMP TEAM

Athletes at University Out for Various Sports as Season Arrives

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, March 7.—Track prospects for the coming season at the University of California are brightening perceptibly. Coach Walter Christie, after the showing made by a number of men in the interclass meet held recently, believes that he will have some likely material to work with his varsity squad.

The interclass meet, however, uncovered a number of promising men. The sophomore class took first by netting 20½ points and the freshmen ran a mighty close second with 20 points. Barber, sophomore, hung up a good record in the final 100-yard dash, doing the distance in 10 1/5. Farsworth of the class of '25 placed second. Aggeler covered the 440 in 52 seconds in the interclass.

Hampton, a freshman, cleared the bar at 6 feet 1 in the running high jump. Upson and Coates tied for first place in the pole vault, both managing to top 10 feet 10 inches. Captain William Neufeldt put the shot for a distance of 42 feet 5 inches, and Lang came second with a put of 40 feet 8 inches.

Illinois On April 19

The final interclass meet will be held shortly and will decide the supremacy of the classes in track. The first intercollegiate track meet of the season will be held on March 22 when the University of Southern California meets the Blue and Gold on California Oval. The meet with the University of Illinois is scheduled to be held on California Oval on April 19.

Crew is creating more and more interest as the favorable reports of Coaches Carroll Ebright and Russell Nagler are made known to the student body. Coach Ebright is finally rounding a first shell into shape and now has fourteen men at the training table. The men are proving extremely adaptable to the Conibar stroke which Ebright introduced at the Blue and Gold institution.

Baseball prospects at the university are of the best. Coach Carl Zamloch has gathered a team which he hopes will again capture championship honors.

His mound men, Kelly, Toomey, Gould, Mitchell and Nouman, leave very little to be desired and they have come through in great fashion during the preliminary season.

Intercollegiate games will start this week. The big games this season will be with U. S. C. on March 22 and April 5 and the annual tilt with the Stanford on April 19.

TEX PLANS BOUT FOR NEW FIGHTER

Romero Rojas, Another From South America, Picked For Luis Firpo

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Quentin Romero Rojas, young, ambitious and tractable, may cull the orchids from Tex Rickard's financial hot house next summer instead of Luis Firpo, the well-known human being who spurned the villain's gold. This is the tentative program now under consideration by the promoter. In a few well chosen words our Mr. Rickard intimated that he might never again dally with Firpo in a business way if only this Romero hombre could show something.

"I've Romero Rojas' acceptance of the terms for bouts here, and if he comes through I will match him with Dempsey for a heavyweight championship late in the summer," Rickard declared.

"Firpo may find that he cannot afford to be up-stage with me. Only a year ago he was willing enough to play along with me and it paid him well. Now he seems ready to toss me over at the slightest provocation."

Firpo Won't Deal

In truth, it does appear that Luis' sense of gratitude is not as strong as his right arm. He has disdained Rickard's cables dealing with terms for a proposed meeting with Harry Wills and seemingly has come to the conclusion that the promoter has outlived his usefulness.

However, the milk will turn to apple sauce as soon as the open season on cash customers is declared. To carry out his present plans, Rickard would have to make Romero Rojas into a fighter equally as sensational as was Firpo last year, which is improbable. Firpo would follow a dollar from Atlanta to the sea, and Rickard is a great pathfinder. You get the answer to this riddle by adding two and two.

Firpo is entirely too great an attraction for Rickard to get along without, and the Latin knows that Rickard is his best little bread winner. If Firpo can again be persuaded to enter the ring against Dempsey, the bout is as certain as sunrise and Rickard will do the promoting, Romero Rojas to the contrary.

52 IN LINE FOR BIG ASCOT BILL

Four Star Event Is Drawing Card Sunday; Derkum to Wield Flag

Fifty-two nominations have been filed for the six automobile and three motorbike races scheduled by George Bental for Ascot Speedway next Sunday afternoon. The distances range from the one-lap Ascot Helmet dash to the feature event, the quadrangular championship match, in which the four stars, Haugdahl, Duray, Horey and Lecklider, will be required to circle the spectacular course twenty times before the winner is decided.

Sig Haugdahl, world's speed king, will send his 180-miles-an-hour "wonder" car against the track record which he recently established over a rough course. With the lower turn recently manicured, he predicts that he will be able to clip at least one second off his previous mark.

The famous Scandinavian driver will be called upon to face one of the toughest jobs he has ever attempted when he tries to defeat Lecklider, Horey and Duray. Even with his over-size Fiat under him he will have to extend himself to come in first.

Derkum to Preside

Bentel announced this morning that Paul Derkum will officiate as starter of Sunday's events. Derkum, former world's motorcycle champion, later the designer of many road race and speedway courses, superintended the building of Ascot. His job as flag wielder on Sunday will mark his first public appearance in Los Angeles since the Santa Monica road race. Babe Stapp, Eddie Meyer, Snowy Brown, Australian champion; Jack Petticord, Canadian champ; Freddy Frame, Fred Luelling, Fred Lyons, Eddie Winfield of Glendale and Gus Schroeder are the most likely money winners in events other than the four-cornered race.

Ralph Hepburn, Gene Walker, Jim Davis, Ray Weishaar and Johnny Seymour are the stars of the motorbike races, with the latter occupying the same place in these events as Haugdahl does in the car races. Everybody is out to beat Haugdahl and Seymour.

BYRD-ANDERSON MATCH ARRANGED

Show Thursday, March 13, To Feature Heavyweights In Main Event

The heavyweights again provide the main event for the regular Glendale Athletic club boxing card to be staged next Thursday night, March 13.

Eddie Byrd of the local club, who knocked out Rough-house Burns in the first round of the main event of the last show, will take on Ad Anderson of Oakland in the headliner. Byrd did not get a chance to show his stuff on the last card and local fans want to see just how good he is when he gets up against real competition. Anderson has a good record in the four-round clubs up north and ought to give Byrd his hands full.

To Meet Richards

Matchmaker Pete Essick announces that the winner of this match will fight Tommy Richards, protege of Jim Jeffries at Burbank, in the main event at the show March 27. Richards was supposed to fight Byrd last week, but had to cancel the date on account of a sore hand. The former heavyweight champion thinks highly of this boy and has him working out every day.

Cecil Taylor, who won his fight last week, will meet George Lavoy in the semi-windup. Lavoy has watched the Burbank jumper in action and believes that he has his number and is confident of victory next Thursday.

Other bouts arranged are: Jimmy Racer and Jimmy Gordon; Ted Rose and Eddie Richards; Eddie Kelly and Jack Turner.

Trojan Athletes Are Declared Ineligible

Oliver Cory, high jumper, and Dick Emmons, pole vaulter, both considered as sure point winners, were declared ineligible for the University of Southern California track team yesterday by the registrar of that institution.

With this statement Dean Cromwell's hope for victories over California and Stanford go glimmering. He appears to be quite peeved over the matter. When asked what explanation the registrar's office had given him for declaring Cory ineligible, Cromwell said they "gave me none but slammed the door in my face. They don't want me to win a track meet. Cory would be eligible in any college in the country but U. S. C. But the ruling has been made and we shall go on and lose just as we did last year. I am perfect willing to abide by all rulings of the university, but privately I do maintain that Cory is every bit as eligible as Hartranft."

Dynamite was first manufactured in the United States in California in 1866.

The Chicago Cubs will make their first 1924 appearance Saturday and Sunday afternoons at Washington park, Los Angeles, when they play the first of several exhibition games with the Vernon Tigers as opponents. The Cubs have been in training at Catalina Island and among other national baseball celebrities to show their wares will be the great Alec, otherwise Grover Cleveland Alexander. Vernon has been making good progress in sharpening the Tiger's claws and expects to show William Wrigley's pets that spearmint is the Tiger's favorite dish.

"They Say," Dame Rumor's right hand bower, buzzes that Ray "Husk" Keating is about to be reinstated in organized baseball following his jump over the traces three years ago when he left the Angels to play in the San Joaquin Valley League. He hopes to join the Angels' pitching staff this year. The Angels need pitchers, as every bug knows, but if Husk has not lost or conquered his prima donna complex his services will make the staff no better fast.

Ray can deliver a fair brand of pitching when things break his way, but if one of his mates makes an untimely boot he takes it as a personal insult and untethers his Toggenberg immediately. At least he did on the last appearances witnessed by this writer.

"Rival Speedway Factions May Bury Hatchet." Probably in each other's heads.

Late reports state that the Ascot track officials and Durant of the Los Angeles Speedway Association have reached an agreement whereby their racing plants will not stage counter attractions on the same dates, meaning Ascot and Culver City, where Durant is going to stage some races on his own, independent of the Speedway Association. Durant plans to convert the Culver City horse-racing plant into a dirt track for automobiles. There is also a healthy rumor that the building of a broad speedway at Arcadia, as originally planned, to replace the deceased Beverly Hills bowl, may not be carried out. Durant is stated to be in favor of building the board track at Culver City, declaring that he considered Arcadia a trifle distant from the shekel-spending Angelenos who travel in the wake of the go-devil's smoke. At any rate, Ascot will race March 16, Culver City will do likewise March 23, Ascot again March 30 and Culver City April 6. Each track will politely decline to tempt any dollars into its change bin on the days when the other track is coaxing last winter's wages away from race fans, so the wee-gee tells us. The ways of rival promoters passeth all understanding, verily.

Thomas Coyne is our idea of a swell name for a boxer. He is a lightweight of the L. A. A. C. but keeps a heavy eye on the silver. A sterling athlete, if you ask us. What could be sweeter than a bout between Coyne and Frank Silver, who also leather-pushes in these parts? Such a match should bring joy to the promoters. You said it.

Now that Dr. Maxim, inventor of a silencer for firearms, has denounced the brewers and sellers of tea and coffee as violators of the Volstead law, will Margaret Sanger step out and seek to curb love letters on the same grounds? Maxim says that tea and coffee are intoxicating. Any girl will tell you that a love letter which does not pack a 100 proof kick is no love letter. Many a maiden has been rendered cross-eyed by these epistles. If prohibition is to be enforced, let it be thorough.

Some sport scribe once coined the expression "punch-drunk" to describe a boxer who has been dazed by the blows of his opponent. Let boxers beware of rendering their opponents punch-drunk, lest some crusaders incarcerate them in the town jail house.

If some big souled, unselfish reformer will now make a determined effort to curb the activities of Babe Ruth, et al., in the manufacture of home runs, all will be jacob. No one can deny that home runs contain more than one-half of one per cent of, intoxicating qualities, so in justice to the rising generation of young manhood we needs must remove this menace from their path. The record book shows that on August 19, 1920, a man died in the stands at the Polo grounds, New York, from the effects of seeing Babe Ruth knock a home run with men on bases. His name was Theodore Sturm, of Belrose, L. I. What more conclusive proof is needed,

Suspension Threat For Angel Holdouts

Martin J. Krug, Angel boss, who, by the way, lives in Glendale, after a talk with Owner Joe Patrick yesterday afternoon, notified Messrs. Hood and Twombly that if their names did not appear on the dotted line by Monday they would be suspended from the ranks.

Marty, apparently, is tired of fooling around with his two gardeners, and, as he has a crack outfield at work in Long Beach now, is not worrying much about the pair of holdouts. Wally Hood, though, would be a great help to any ball team, and he probably will be in the fold next week. The Seraph secretary, Oscar Reichow, says that Wally is holding out for a share of the purchase money if he is sold this year. The Sawtelle leader says that his salary provision is O. K.

Babe Twombly will probably follow Wally's example and get back in the harness the first of next week.

VOTERS TO NAME SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Elections Set for March 28 In Foothill Towns to Fill Vacancies

March 28 is the date set for the election of grammar school trustees in Tujunga, also the Monte Vista district at Sunland and the La Crescenta district, which includes Montrose. On the same date two vacancies on the Glendale Union High school board will also be filled and it is expected that one of them will be chosen from the eligibles of three hill towns.

No candidates have appeared for the high school board, but J. A. Jenkins, who recently resigned from the Tujunga board, A. D. Kirschman and H. A. Baldridge, the latter of La Crescenta, have been suggested as possibilities.

The office of clerk of the board will be open at Sunland, as C. C. Campbell desires to retire from active duty. Mr. Campbell is also president of the Sunland Chamber of Commerce.

Membership Drive

A membership drive, with at least 411 enrollments as the objective, has been launched by the Tujunga Parent-Teacher association. The membership at the beginning of the present school term numbered 289 and the enrollment of pupils in the school now totals 411, hence the drive for new members, as Tujunga has for some time boasted more P.-T. A. members than pupils in school.

Mrs. B. B. Reynolds has offered to give a dinner to the five members turning in the largest number of new members. March 19 will be Fathers' Night and the paternal parents will entertain and serve refreshments at the schoolhouse. Professor Axe has charge of arranging the program.

A social tea was given at the home of Mrs. Alice Carr, 127 Greeley avenue, Wednesday, March 5, by the Parent-Teacher association.

Victor Zitto recently celebrated his birthday with a party at his home. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Reihm, Edward and Phil Reihm, Mr. and Mrs. Eaton, John Moulder, Mildred and Charles Furlong, Fred Terzo, Mr. and Mrs. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Fisk, Mrs. Smith, Sammy Fisk, Harold Carfield, Charles Terzo, George Stassi, Mr. and Mrs. Petrotta, Ellen Petrotta, Mr. and Mrs. John Zitto, and Constance and Nat Zitto.

HUNTING OIL? OH, NO! PROSPECTING!

Postoffice Employes Enjoy Trip to Victor Valley, Stroller Learns

By THE STROLLER
Written for The Evening News

It is queer what stories you hear while strolling around Glendale. Not of wealth, nor of fame, but more or less ordinary events which give to the imagination an opportunity for exercise. To cite an instance, the postal employes yesterday in their spare moments were discussing the prospects of oil.

Now there is something in oil for politicians, it seems, but what is there intriguing for a civil service employe? A little stock, perhaps, and that is all. Or maybe a homestead with indications of oil thereon. It was the latter case that caused the comments.

Noted Explorers

George P. Brady, said to be noted as a geologist and called "professor" by his cohorts, accompanied by the equally noted "Deal Me Two" Will Gamble, Oscar Wright, who can sing tenor, he swears, and Vic Hoyer, a little less noted than Oscar as a hunter, made a hasty trip to the Victor valley recently to inspect the oil prospects of Lloyd Gomes, bloated landholder of the postoffice force.

Lloyd has large acreage—each of the sixty looking larger than the one before—in the vicinity of Lenwood. That in itself is not so interesting, were it not for the fact it is said to be in the scope of a new oil field by Professor Brady. And Gamble was willing to take a chance that it is. At any rate he drove his family bus, with some misgivings and three mailmen, out to the valley to see five new derricks up in the neighborhood of the old Kramer well, somewhere near Hawes station, wherever that is.

Miss Tut's Tomb

The net results of the local geological party consisted mainly of Oscar Wright shooting a jackrabbit right where Oscar didn't aim to make a bull's-eye. That is beside the story, however, for the party not only saw the Victor valley, but Barstow, Muroc, Dry Lake and Lancaster as well. They missed King Tut's tomb.

They are still talking of the trip, and Lloyd Gomes' chances of striking oil like Oscar got his jackrabbit.

RED PAINT SPOT FURNISHES CLUE

Owner of Stolen Car, Stripped By Thieves, Located by Desk Sergeant

"Boy, page Sherlock Holmes." Desk Sergeant John D. Cole of the Glendale police department is the latest candidate for international honors in the ferreting out of criminals.

On March 1 a stripped car was found at the corner of Kenneth road and Western. It had been robbed of everything movable. In fact, about all that remained was the chassis and engine.

License plates had been removed, and efforts made to obliterate the engine and serial numbers.

Enter Red Paint

When the car had been towed into the city garage, Sergeant Cole endeavored to check up on it. He was able to make out faintly the last three figures of the engine number, and on one of the studs which held the license plate in place at the rear of the machine, he detected a small blotch of red paint.

Knowing that the only red license plate, as far as he was aware, came from Utah, he wrote to the motor vehicle department at Salt Lake City and this morning received a wire identifying the car as one stolen last fall from the Utah capital.

He was requested to hold the machine for an automobile insurance company of Los Angeles.

Oxy President Back From Inspection Trip

President R. D. Bird, head of Occidental college, has just returned from an extended trip along the coast to study recently constructed dormitories in other institutions, in order that the women's building of Occidental will be of the latest design and equipment. The plans for the dormitory are nearing completion and actual work will start before the June commencement. The building, which is to cost approximately $400,000, is the gift of Dr. William Meade Orr of Alhambra, and is a memorial to Mrs. Orr.

President Bird was accompanied by Mrs. Bird, Dr. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. William Benson of Passaic, N. J., and Miss Jane Benson. While in the north they visited Stanford university and the University of California. In San Francisco they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Almer M. Newhall of the Occidental board of trustees, William Mayo Newhall, president of the board of directors of Stanford, and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Foster, president of the board of regents of the University of California.

Art Association to Hear E. R. Schraeder

The Glendale Art association is to meet at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Public Library, to hear an illustrated talk by E. Roscoe Schraeder of Hollywood on "Modern Art."

Mrs. Roy Ballagh, president of the club, states that this is the program postponed from last Sunday. She cordially invites all artists and art lovers to attend.

Twenty-eight mail boxes on one tree is the record held by a small community near a large city in the east.

Caltech Defeated In Debate With Tigers

The Occidental college debating team defeated California Institute of Technology last night in an exciting debate held in the Oxy chapel. The Oxy team had the negative side of the question which was, "Resolved, that Congress should be given the power to re-enact laws declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court." The judge was Murray G. Hill of Pasadena high school, and the decision was based on organization and delivery. The Occidental team was composed of Jones and Henshaw, and the Caltech representatives were Louis and Thayer.

BUTTERFLIES COMING

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 7.—San Diego today finds herself a convention city for millions of denizens of the air—light, airy brown butterflies of vanessa cardui genus, more commonly known as the painted lady butterfly. They are flying north.

Glendale Singers In Orpheus Club Concert

Glendale singers were numbered last night in the group of Orpheus club members, who gave a splendid concert in the Philharmonic auditorium in Los Angeles. There were also Glendalians included in the large audience that greeted the singers. Hugo Kirchhofer, popular director, who has a host of friends in Glendale, directed the chorus and he and his singers received a most hearty greeting.

Glendale singers appearing last night were Julian Hayward, O. W. Andresen, E. Payson Hayward, Stanley A. Searle, Homer V. Zechiel, Hyde W. Laurien, Milford C. Jackson.

Many of the club patrons are from Glendale.

The Orpheus club is looking forward to journeying to Oxnard April 5 to compete in a big songfest. The affair is similar to the contest held in 1915 in San Francisco, where the Orpheus singers won the first prize of $3000.

Province of Yunga, Bolivia, chief producing territory of cocoa plants, has an output of 40,000,000 pounds each year.

Tiger Registration For Semester Large

Occidental college has a large registration for the second semester, according to Dean Burt. There are five hundred and forty students enrolled this term, which is the greatest number of students ever registered at the Eagle Rock institution. The total number of states represented is twenty-seven. The number of other countries represented is nine, including fourteen foreign students from the countries of Russia, China, Philippine Islands, Mexico, Czecho-Slovakia and Japan.

The registration by classes is as follows:

	Men	Women	Total
Graduates	5	9	14
Specials	7	3	10
Seniors	23	44	69
Juniors	44	61	105
Sophomores	79	65	144
Freshmen	121	79	200

CHAMP IN FILMS

NEW YORK, March 7.—Jack Dempsey was making preparations today to depart on Monday for the Pacific coast where he plans to remain for an indefinite period. The heavyweight champion is under contract to appear in a motion picture and part of his time at Los Angeles will be taken up making the picture. He also plans to stop en route at Salt Lake City for a visit.

RAISES OLYMPIC QUOTA

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—With $25,000 fully subscribed, San Francisco was announced today as the first city in the country to raise its quota to send American athletes to Paris for the Olympic games.

WOMAN ASKS NEW TRIAL

FRESNO, March 7.—Asserting that the jury received evidence out of court, that the court erred in its rulings and instructions and that new evidence in favor of the defendant has been discovered, a motion for a new trial for Mrs. Eliza Portegian, convicted murderess, was on file today.
